No Scramble and Rush Seen In Last Hours of Legislature

PASS LATE BILLS

Conflicting Opinions Passed By State Solons On Merits of Work

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, March 31.—With none of the scramble and rush expected to develop in the last few hours of the session, the Ninth legislature moved smoothly through a long detail of daily routine today towards an undramatic finish.

Both houses marked time as they waited for reports from late conference committees and meanwhile disposed of a number of minor bills remaining on the calendar. The senate in the anticipation that Governor Walton would address the joint houses in the closing hours of legislative business, awaited his coming with some interest, but these rumors proved without foundation. It had been expected that the governor would ask the legislature to trim expenditures down to conform to the probable revenue.

The total appropriations are unofficially estimated at $33,163,700.65, at the 8 o'clock recess, with indications that these amounts might be shaded either up or down when the houses assemble again.

While speculation was running rampant whether Governor Walton would make an open declaration as to his attitude towards the institutional and departmental appropriation bills, administration leaders in both houses maintained that the big measures had been put through with the knowledge and consent of the chief executive. They were inclined to discount rumors that extraordinary cuts would be made in either bill. The full crew bill, which entered the house under the guise of a fish and game farm measure, met an ignominious end when the house voted to strike the bill from its place on the calendar.

Without objection the house passed the senate bill providing for submitting to the people the question of the state's paying deposits of default state bonds.

One Platform Bill Passed
One of the Shawnee platform pledges was made good when the house passed the senate bill providing $185,000 for the establishment of a state institution for treating drug and liquor addicts. The old quarters of the Masonic Orphans Home in Canadian county will be purchased for this purpose.

The house bowed to Mrs. Walton in passing the Holloway bill changing the name of county poor farm to county home, when it was explained that the wife of the chief executive had made a personal request that such a law be enacted.

Stripped of its county unit plan, the house passed the bill appropriating $800,000 to aid weak school districts. Senate amendments were accepted. The bill went to the governor.

The conference report on the $417,100 health department bill also was approved.

At the opening of the session the house voted to present Speaker Murray Gibbons with his desk, chair and typewriter in keeping with custom.

Three Solons Railed
Good natured raillery was indulged in at the expense of three members of the house, Long of Tulsa, Gibbons and Nance, who today were admitted to the Oklahoma bar on motion of Thomas Doyle, presiding judge of the Criminal court of Appeals.

Long is a dentist, Nance a newspaper man, and Gibbons makes his living as a grain buyer. On hearing of the admittance of the three house members to the bar, senators Jeb Johnson, Tom Anglin, and Courtland M. Feunquay introduced a resolution for repealing all laws in reference to any qualifications for practicing law.

"Our supreme court and state bar commissions" said the resolution, "are admitting newspaper men, farmers, stock dealers, horse doctors and others of the state to the state bar of Oklahoma, therefore be it resolved that all laws in reference to qualifications be repealed so that any and all persons, white or black, illiterate or learned, Caucasian or other race, are permitted to practice in this state without any examination and that the state board be abolished."

Early in the day the senate approved the weak school district appropriation bill. The $400,000 appropriation for the state health department bill also passed.

Flashes of World Events

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, April 1.—Slashing cuts in meat prices were announced here today after the nation's big packers had held an executive meeting at the stockyards. The new scale of prices provides the following scale of maximum prices:
Steaks.....10c per lb.
Chops.....10c per lb.
Ham and bacon 2c per lb.
It was also decreed that hereafter soup meat, roasts, sausage and other less desirable varieties will be given away free of charge with each order of the above.

In addition every person who buys as much as forty cents worth in a year will be given a bonus of 100 shares of guaranteed worthless stock.

WASHINGTON D. C., April 1.—The wildest celebration in the history of the nation's capital marked the action of congress in erasing the Vostead act from the statute books.

Hotels and cafes were thronged and it is reported that the cellars of a number of hitherto dry congressmen and senators were requisitioned to supply the unprecedented demand for wines, beer and bourbon.

In the early hours of the celebration it became apparent that the supply of wet goods would be insufficient to fill the demand and in order to prevent needless suffering it was decided to apportion the liquor among the celebrants, giving each seventeen gallons of wine and bourbon and two kegs of beer.

The directors of the celebration regretted that strict enforcement of the prohibition law had cut down the supply available for distribution.

PARIS, April 1.—Heeding the plea of impoverished husbands, French modistes have decreed the passing of changing styles in ladies' wear.

A trim business suit, along tailored lines, with a hat akin to the derby or sailor model, will replace the walking suit, afternoon and evening gowns now in vogue.

The sponsors of the move believe that the new design will make it possible for every woman to get along with but one suit a year—if she presses it at night—or possibly two at the most.

Long suffering husbands and fathers are said to have pledged their unstinted support to originators of the movement which promises to make cigarette money something more than a memory of bygone days and even make it possible for friend husband to have as much as a dime at one time.

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 31.—That Governor J. C. Walton's administration program occupied the center of most of the attention of the ninth legislature and that about half the measures proposed were successfully enacted by his forces was revealed in a summary prepared in the closing hours of the session today.

The summary showed that five proposals enumerated in the Shawnee platform became laws or will as soon as the governor affixes his signature. One of the Shawnee platform planks calling for impartial endorsement of all laws did not become a direct subject of legislative action. Eleven planks failed to become laws but the strength of the administration was not thrown behind two of them and four were not introduced, making a record of five won and five lost.

Sharp divisions for and against the administration were counted approximately forty times, most of them in the lower house, although some carried through both houses. Administration forces were successful in these tests just half the times, the summary shows.

Some administration successes resulted from the struggle on measures which did not originate with the administration but were taken under its wing. Some of those lost were marked up after the administration had taken over pending bills not originated by it.

Some measures, in which the administration was interposed were not decided until the last day. This classification counting at least half a dozen. However, the "heart of the program" as it was termed by administration forces, was passed several days before the end of the session.

This was the market commission bill, essentially an administration bill in passage, although, as signed, the result of some compromises.

UTILITY MERGER PREDICTED NOW

Giant Illinois Light and Power Properties To Be Consolidated

(By the Associated Press)
SPRINGFIELD, Illinois, March 31.—Rumors of a consolidation of the Studebaker utility interests, represented by the Southern Illinois Light and Power Company with the McKinley properties, known as the Illinois traction system, were advanced today with the filing of a formal petition from the Illinois corporation commission.

It is proposed to consolidate these properties under the name of the Illinois Power and Light corporations. Plans for the consolidation were approved by stockholders of the Illinois traction company at Portland, Maine, last Saturday.

The proposed consolidation would bring together to one common ownership the operation of the organization of one of the largest public utilities, including the largest continuous traction railway system in the world. These properties would serve 72,000 electric light users and 67,000 gas users, and would own 240 miles of street tracks, and 550 miles of main track electric railways.

The properties to be consolidated are now owned by more than fifty separate corporations organized under the laws of various states, each of which has been developed largely as independent property and with individual capitalization.

The petition states that as a result of the consolidation more than 150 different kind of securities with which the properties are now financed would provide for the issuing of securities to replace those outstanding. In addition, the plan also provides securities for additional capital to meet the rapidly growing demands for power, light and traction, by the territory served.

The primary purpose of the consolidation, as pointed out in the petition, is to secure increased efficiency.

Bandits Abandon Automobile After Carrying Off Loot

(By the Associated Press)
JAY, Okla., March 31.—Four men who robbed the First National Bank of Gentry, Arkansas, at noon today of $1,600 abandoned their automobile near Howe, Oklahoma, late today and made their way into the hills. Posses who had fired into the car reported at least one of the men had been wounded as the machine was stained with blood. Part of the stolen money was abandoned in the auto. Posses from here believe they have the men surrounded near Howe.

Only one girl was in the bank when the bandits came in, and she scooped up all the money in sight. None of the bandits was recognized, it was said.

Largest Program Planned Here for Trades Day Event

The greatest trade day in the history of Ada is forecasted by merchants and others interested for tomorrow. A big parade will be staged in the afternoon, cash prizes given away and great bargains offered by all the members of the Retail Merchant's association, as shown in another page of the paper.

Reports are that buyers will be here from a great radius. It is believed not fewer than ten thousand people will be on the down town streets Monday afternoon.

Harvard College was founded in 1636 and Yale in 1701.

Klan Bolder

The Ada Knights of the Ku Klux Klan have granted the public another privilege.

All the drug store argument concerning the meeting night and place of gathering of the Ada Klan has been settled with a bang.

Whether or not the Ada Klansmen have tired of so much discussion or whether they have simply followed the lead of other fraternal orders in announcing their meeting night is not known but to the pedestrian uptown Friday night, a fiery cross blazed out in the darkness of the night over their meeting hall on North Broadway, directly across the street from the News office, announced that the Ada Klan was in secret convence.

The cross remained over the building Saturday morning, so it is supposed that it will remain so to inform strangers that the Klan is with Ada.

SOLONS PASS ON APPROPRIATIONS

Ada College Gets Benefits of Appropriation Passage By Legislature

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, March 31.—(Special to News)—The Oklahoma Legislature Friday evening passed the institutional appropriation bill, handsomely taking care of the East Central State Teachers College of Ada. The bill has now passed both houses and lacks only Governor Walton's signature to make it a law. It is considered about the capital that the Governor will not veto any section of it.

The bill calls for the following items for the Ada College:
New building $150,000; salaries for the first of the two year period $95,000; for the second year $100,000; for maintenance the first year $18,000; for the second year $20,000; for repairs $10,000; for sidewalks and campus improvement $1,000 each year; for summer school $11,000 each year.

In addition to these, other bills which have already passed both houses carry an appropriation of $8,000 for repairs on the old building, this being an emergency matter, and a sufficient amount to pave the part of South Francis Avenue belonging to the state.

In discussing the matter this morning, President Linseheid said the school has been taken care of much better than at any time in the past. The appropriations total about the same for the Ada institution as they do for Edmond and Durant. This is the first time that Ada has been put on an equality with Edmond by a legislature.

President Leaves Jacksonville For Visit in Augusta

(By the Associated Press)
On Board President Harding's Special Train, March 31.—The special train carrying President Harding and his vacation party from St. Augustine to Augusta, Georgia, reached Jacksonville tonight at 8:35 o'clock and left fifteen minutes later. The presidential special will reach Augusta early tomorrow. Attorney General Daugherty changed his plans to leave St. Augustine for Asheville, North Carolina, in advance of the presidential party and traveled on the same train to Jacksonville.

Just before reaching Jacksonville President Harding went up to Attorney General Daugherty's car and spent some time with him.

WILSON SILENT ON BOMB MURDER

Detective Chiefs to Lead Questioning of Bomb Murderer

(By the Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, March 31.—Many of the details of the purported confessions of Herbert Wilson, convicted murderer, alleged mail robber and former evangelist, that he manufactured the explosives the bomb which killed 39 persons and destroyed property valued at thousands of dollars in Wall Street, New York City, September 17, 1920, will be withheld from the public for the present, it was admitted today by county and federal agents.

Wilson, a prisoner in the Los Angeles county jail, has been questioned many times by groups of deputy sheriffs and postal inspectors, according to the Los Angeles Times, and these officers expect representatives of other departments of the federal government, including William J. Burns, director of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, to come her to try to obtain fuller information that they as yet have not persuaded Wilson to give.

Wilson is said by a Los Angeles officer to have told him that he designed the bomb and manufactured some of the most intricate parts at his home here while under the impression that it was to be used by bank burglars who wanted to wreck a vault to hide the evidence of their opening it. He stated that he went east in August before the September tragedy and at a point near New York City met a man who employed him to construct the engine of destruction which he turned over a few days before the explosion.

Holdenville Plans Erection of Five Story New Temple

Information from Holdenville is to the effect that the Masonic fraternity of that city has decided to erect a five story temple which will be strictly modern in every particular. The first floor will be rented out for business purposes and sixty office rooms are planned for other floors. Quarters will be provided for the various branches of the order.

A finance committee has been appointed and it is thought that no difficulty will be experienced in arranging for the money needed for the enterprise. The cost of the building is estimated at $100,000.

Police Searching For Men who put Children in Case

(By the Associated Press)
SAN BERNARDINO, California, March 31.—After finding Richard Jensen, five years old, unconscious, and the body of Jean Mecham, four in a showcase of a vacant building today, police today are investigating the possibility that some one put the boys in the case yesterday.

The Jensen boy died a few hours after he was found without regaining consciousness.

The two children disappeared last Saturday and since then posses and officers here and in other towns in Southern California have been hunting for them. The building in which they were found is within two hundred feet of the Mecham home.

WALTON PROGRAM OCCUPIES CENTER OF STATE ACTION

About Half of Moves From Platform Carried Thru Legislature

FIVE POINTS WON

Many Measures Won After Being Adopted By Administration

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 31.—That Governor J. C. TEXAS ARMY SCANDAL UNDER FEDERAL PROBE

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 31.—Secretary Weeks has ordered Major General Eli Helmeick, inspector general of the army, to make an official investigation into the controversy between Colonel Arthur Conger, commander of the 20th Infantry in Texas, and Captain Edwin H. Randles of the same organization. The investigation will begin immediately under an officer attached to General Helmeick's office on duty at corps headquarters at San Antonio. The war secretary said that the investigation was ordered before Louis K. Karns of Indianapolis reached Washington and discussed the case with him today.

Secretary Weeks declared that the investigation had been ordered after reading a letter from Mrs. Randles, sister of Mr. Karns, which is understood to have alleged that she, as wife of Captain Randles, has suffered as the result of remarks concerning her which were reported to have been made by Colonel Conger.

Mr. Karns conferred briefly with the secretary and is understood to have said that the action already taken is entirely satisfactory to him.

New World Speed Record In Plane Made By Aviators

(By the Associated Press)
DAYTON, Ohio, March 31.—Dispatches from McCook field said that new world speed records for 500 kilometers distance have been made at this field. Unofficial figures stated that Lieutenant Alex Person completed 500 kilometers in one hour, 50 minutes and 12 7-10 seconds, making approximately 169 miles an hour. Lieutenant Harold Harris with a civilian pilot, Ralph Lockwood, traveled a thousand kilometers in four hours, 52 minutes, 35.24 seconds, an average of 126 miles an hour.

Weather Man To Lend Aid To Strollers

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, March 31.—A smiling sun to temper winter's conquest of spring will make Easter day pleasant for innumerable women, was conceded by weather forecasters. But in announcing that concession to the participants of the annual dress review the weather forecasters told of a cold wave sweeping down out of the Arctic regions that will bring lower temperatures and frost as far as northern Florida.

While the wave was to spread across the country east of the Mississippi the section west of that dividing line will not be favored, as temperatures there will be far below normal and decidedly cool for the appearance of the Easter bonnets.

But the promise of fair weather and some rising temperatures caused the Easter paraders to take heart anew and joyfully await the dawn of tomorrow which will see them set for all the glory of their spring finery, subnormal temperatures notwithstanding.

Summer furs were expected to be an article of usefulness to paraders and not an ornament, as old man winter, asserting his supremacy over spring, was scheduled to hold a little parade himself.

VOLSTEAD TAKES FEE IN INDIANA

Fifty-five are Convicted For Violation of Liquor Laws in State

(By the Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, March 31.—One of the most sensational trials held in Indiana since the Volstead Act came into effect was brought to a close in United States district court here today with the conviction of 55 persons on a charge of conspiracy to violate the liquor law.

The defendants are all residents of Gary and Lake county. A majority of those convicted are of foreign birth. Several of the defendants were men charged with the authority to enforce the laws and those who had taken oath to prosecute offenders. They were found guilty by a jury which began its deliberations last night and reported its verdict in court today.

Among the most prominent defendants found guilty were: Roswell O. Johnson, mayor of Gary; William A. Jones, sheriff of Lake county; William M. Dunn, judge of Gary city court; Brad Lucas, a Gary attorney; Dwight M. Cander, prosecuting attorney for Lake county; Louis E. Barnes, former sheriff of Lake county; Clyde Hunter, former prosecutor of Lake county; John Bennett, treasurer of the republican city commission; and Charles L. Clemens, justice of the peace.

Seventy-five persons living in Gary and Lake county were indicted by federal grand jury last December on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act. Of this number five pleaded guilty before trial. Seven other defendants have not yet been arrested.

Convicted Members Of Band Attempt Reverse Decision

(By the Associated Press)
DENVER, March 31.—What was regarded in legal circles as the start of a fight of the convicted members of a nationwide confidence band to reverse the verdict against them was launched today when the defendants' attorneys ordered a transcript of the case which was on trial nearly two months.

The transcript will be obtained at a cost of about $4000 according to attorneys, who indicated that there would be an appeal to the supreme court if necessary.

ALLEGED GANG WAR AT END, ST. LOUIS POLICE SAY

ST. LOUIS, March 31.—The alleged gang war which police say has claimed seven victims in the last two years has ended, according to an announcement of the police. A number of shootings from speeding automobiles in recent months has been ascribed by the police to the gang feud. The "war" had its inception in a controversy over a bootlegging affair, police declared.

There have never been any convictions in connection with the killings.

GERMANS KILLED IN UPRISING BY FRENCH SOLDIERS

Workmen in Krupp Plant are Shot Down When They Try Revolt

SIX REPORTED DEAD

French Declare Workmen In Plant Refused To Heed Orders

ESSEN, Germany, March 31.—Clashes between French forces and German workmen at the Krupp plant here today resulted in the death of five or six of the German workmen and the wounding of about thirty.

According to the French version of the affair, a lieutenant and eleven soldiers who went to the Krupp works for the purpose of requisitioning automobiles, were set upon by a mob variously estimated at from 2000 to 3000 which was called out by a sentry firing.

The mob showered stones on the soldiers, while many of the men armed with revolvers fired shots at them. The soldiers returned the fire. First shooting over the heads of the mob and when the workmen refused to disperse finally aimed to kill.

When the clash was at its height an automobile, bearing two French civilian engineers, came along and these were set upon by the workmen. They were badly beaten and severely wounded. The automobile was smashed and the chauffeur took refuge among the little group of French soldiers but not before he was struck by several missiles. The engineers were taken into the Krupp plant and severely manhandled.

The French military command in Essen, when informed of the rioting sent armored cars and tanks to the scene of the uprising. This caused the workmen to retire behind their defenses. The French say that the cars, which they came to requisition are now in their possession.

LONDON, March 31.—A Reuters dispatch from Berlin said it is now asserted that eleven persons were killed and about thirty-five wounded in the fight at Essen between the French troops and workers in the Krupp plant. A dispatch to The Central News said two French were killed.

ESSEN, March 31.—The French announced tonight that they are positive a premeditated and concerted effort was made to bring their soldiers and the German workmen into collision. They declared that those responsible for the outbreak were former members of the German security police who have been disarmed by the French. The responsibility of the Krupp management, they claim, is also gravely involved through the blowing of the siren alarm which signalled the workmen to assemble. Severe penalties will be inflicted, the nature of which have not yet been determined.

Postal Receipts Doubled Here in Past Ten Years

Postal receipts have been more than doubled during the past 10 years, according to an official report from Washington received this week.

Postal receipts for 1913 amounted to over $15,000 while the reports for 1923 bring the total well past $30,000.

This increase has been gradual since 1913 and the doubling of the amount has been due to the steady growth of the city.

While the period following the war showed a drop in amount of postal receipts, this fact is given to the increase from 2 to 3 cents for stamps on first class mail matter. Approximately 17 per cent of the amount is given to the increase in postage stamp fees during the war.

ENDURANCE FLIGHT OF TWO AVIATORS IS FAILURE

DAYTON, Ohio, March 31.—The attempted endurance flight of Lieutenant J. H. McReady and Oakley G. Kelley ended in failure early today when their rebuilt Fokker monoplane developed engine trouble and the two were forced to land at Wilbur Wright field. There were no indications today as to when a flight will be attempted again. The two are seeking to better their own endurance record of 35 hours, 15 minutes and 18 seconds.

ADA DELEGATES TO ATTEND MEET

Seven Postal Employees To Represent Departments In State Meet

Ada will be well represented at a meeting of state postmasters and postoffice employees at Oklahoma City, April 2, according to the announcement of M. F. Manville, postmaster.

Seven employees of the local postoffice will attend the conference which is aimed at the betterment of the postal department in its service to the public.

Each department in the local postoffice will be represented at the conference. City and rural carriers, clerks and officials will seek departmental information at the conference.

Approximately 2,000 delegates are expected to attend the conference from practically every town in the state. From the postmaster to the rural carrier will be represented in group meeting during the day.

A special railroad rate reduction has been granted to delegates for the conference, one-half fare being allowed for the trip from any point in the state.

According to an official bulletin, postmasters and employees are requested to register at the Huchkins Hotel upon arrival in Oklahoma City.

Postmaster Claude Weaver of Oklahoma City has sent a special invitation to Postmaster Manville for the conference Monday.

A special entertainment program has been arranged for the visiting delegates after the business affairs of the meeting are disposed of. Group meetings for postmasters, railway mail clerks, city and rural carriers, supervisory officials and postoffice clerks are scheduled for the day.

Second Assistant Postmaster General Paul Henderson and Third Postmaster General W. Irving Glover are scheduled for addresses of instruction during the conference. State and city officials have been placed on the program for the conference.

The following of the postoffice force will attend the conference: Wilbur Lee, E. T. Sumner, M. E. Qualls, W. H. Burdshaw, M. F. Manville, Earnest Hughes and Joe Reper.

Motion to admit them to the state bar was made by Justice Thomas H. Doyle.

CHICAGO MAYORALTY RACE REACHES FINAL STAGES

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 31.—Chicago's mayoralty campaign wound up tonight with the adherents of both candidates predicting victory in Tuesday's election. Homer K. Gatpin, chairman of the republican county commission, said tonight that Arthur C. Lueder, former postmaster, would win on the republican ticket by at least 40,000 votes, while supporters of Judge William E. Dever, democrat, predicted that he will be elected by all the way from 100,000 to 175,000 votes.

PISTOL SHOTS LEAD TO FINDING OF COUPLE

(By the Associated Press)

CHELSEA, Mass., March 31.—Pistol shots that killed a man and woman in a tenement house here tonight started a fire in the place and led to the finding of the two bodies. The victims were Mrs. Kate Pryor and Allen Perry, both negroes. Five empty revolver shells were found in the room but the weapon itself was missing.

SIX CHARGES FILED IN CLOSING OF BANK

McALESTER, March 31.—Six charges of accepting deposits in an insolvent bank and fraudulent use of deposits were filed yesterday against S. W. MAIN STREET

—BY—
V. L. H.

A modest girl walks down the street
All dainty, prim and sweet,
She did not peer from under hat
To where some jelly idly sat.
She did not walk with sloven stride,
But sought her loveliness to hide.
She did not paint as is the rule,
Too bad—no dream—just April Fool.

Not all the painted Easter chicks stay in baskets.

Talk about time changes—How about Easter?

In ye days of old, people used to celebrate Easter by hidin' eggs but now pa and husband does it by exposing dressed chickens.

Everything is for the best though. Think of what little kick one could derive from hunting eggs, only the color is in doubt.

On the other hand, one has a thousand surprises in store when the dressed chicken parade starts.

Every year people wonder about the weather conditions and if the sky is dark they lament with the disagreeable information that the parade will be off because of inclement weather.

People who study feminine habits would contradict the weather bureau any time since a woman never allows any to interfere when a new hat rests in the family closet.

Here are a few nice April Fool jokes for home folks:

1. Tell your wife to buy a few more clothes since she has been so economical.

2. Let the baby play with your razor.

3. Invite a few friends out to sample your champagne.

4. Invite your neighbor to inspect the green onions in your garden.

5. Explain to your wife, why the legislature is.

Amos Tache says that horses seem to have a monopoly on horse sense.

MISSOURI MUSIC CLUBS TO MEET

Attempt to be Made to Found Southwest Conference.

(By the Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 31.—At the annual convention of the Missouri State Federation of Music clubs, which starts here tomorrow, an attempt will be made to found a Southwest Conference comprising music clubs of Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma, it was announced here today by Miss Jessie M. Crosby, state chairman of publicity for the Missouri federation. Representatives from the other three states will be here, she said. Reduced rates have been offered by the railroads for those attending the convention from the four states.

As an added attraction to the regular convention, the federated music clubs of Kansas City will present in Convention hall the nights of April 4 and 5, "Mendelssohn's oratorio, "Elijah," staged as grand opera. This, Miss Crosby said, will be the "biggest thing ever attempted in music in Kansas City." With 2,350 persons taking part in the singing, the choruses will be made up of more trained voices than ever heard here before at one time and perhaps more than ever assembled before in any city, she said.

Three hundred and fifty persons will be in costume. This, Miss Crosby declared to be unique in the production of oratorios and would give the production all the advantages of a grand opera in addition the large choruses that will take part.

Two groups of singers of 500 voices each will be located just in front of the stage, on either side. In an upper balcony in the rear of the building a chorus of 1,000 school children will be assembled. Miss Crosby characterized this chorus as being in the nature of an angelical choir, which she declared had great possibilities in this oratorio. Two complete children's choruses are being trained, she said, it being planned to use a different one each night in order that more may have the advantages of the training.

The little symphony orchestra of Kansas City will furnish the orchestral music for the oratorio. All the musicians and singers will be residents of Kansas City and proceeds from the oratorio will be used for civic music developments here. Half the money will be used as a nucleus for a musical club building here, Miss Crosby said.

The convention will adjourn April 6.

Do you know how easy it is to make dresses, to-day?

The new fabrics and patterns are tempting more and more women to sew

Design 4398—This three-piece suit with its simple Eton jacket and slip-over dress is very easy to make. You will find the pattern for it at our Butterick counter and the appropriate materials—serge, printed and plain silk crepes, tricotine—at our piece-goods counter. Even if you've never made a suit before, you will have no trouble with this one since the Deltor, enclosed with your pattern, shows you step by step how to cut, construct and finish each garment.

Design 4359—Miss 16 to 20 will be a simple maid this Spring with her basque frock and her puffed sleeves. Visit our piece-goods counter with her and let her select one of the recommended materials in the color she likes best. We have all the new taffetas, crepe, satin, and silks. At our Butterick Pattern counter you will find the pattern in all the sizes. The Deltor enclosed with the pattern tells you how to make the dress from start to finish—even the flower ornaments and the puffing with which the dress is trimmed.

Design 4367—Ruffles have returned but, thanks to the Deltor, they use no more material than a plain-skirted dress. A 10-year size requires only 3½ yards of 39 inch material—the Deltor showing you with pictures how to lay the pattern on the material. At our piece-goods counter you will find the popular Spring materials—taffeta, silk or satin crepes, printed silks in the new designs. And at our Butterick Pattern counter you will find all the new Spring styles.

Design 4360—Two yards of 44 inch material is enough to make this dress for a 10-year-old child. The pattern (a Butterick one) is very simple and the Deltor, enclosed with it, shows you exactly how to make the dress—even the ruching and the rosettes. All you have to do is select the material, and at our piece-goods counter you will find an excellent assortment—organdies, dotted swiss, taffeta, net, in all the lovely new colors.

OFFICIAL VIEW OF STATE POLITICS

A Press Bureau is conducted at Oklahoma City by the national and state Democratic committees hence its expressions are to be regarded as more or less official. A part of its last bulletin dealing with state politics reads as follows:

"There has been much expression in the last fortnight because of peculiar political conditions in our state. Not the least among these was the appointment of George Wilson by the board of agriculture as the president of the A. and M. college. Mr. Wilson is, of course, head of the Nonpartisan League in Oklahoma, and his appointment would lead the careless to the conclusion that the element of society with which he affiliates is transcendent, when, as a matter of fact, it carries slight weight in affairs of politics.

"Mr. Wilson is but a feature in Oklahoma politics at the present time. There is a wave of radicalism which follows all movements to reform and he has led very successfully in the march toward the radical in this state. His success or failure at the second highest educational institution of the state has very little to do with state politics. In truth, the governor has but paid a political debt, and in paying he may have won laurels rather than trouble. If Mr. Wilson is able to act as the head of the great educational institution he will silence his enemies, and if he fails his dismissal is only a matter of time.

"The signs of the times are favorable to democracy. The governor is handicapped because of the fact that in his march to the present position he was forced to accept the favor of the radicals. Almost prosaic in his conservatism, he has never received just criticism for the reason that in politics we must all stand for those who have rounded the track.

"It is a matter of common knowledge Mr. Wilson is not a pleasing person to a large number of citizens of the state, but in the event that he makes good, that will pass.

"It is certain that the governor has done nothing which has set him off to one side so much as the appointment of Wilson, and in the event that the latter makes good nothing will go stronger to place him high in the public esteem.

"Viewed from this angle, Mr. Wilson has within his power the probability of making an administration a success or a failure."

Every question has two sides, and now comes the United States Sugar Association with an arraignment of the government for its attack on the sugar and coffee exchange of New York in consequence of the high price of sugar and raking those who advocated a boycott as a means of forcing the price down. It charges that Senator Reed Smoot in trying to boost the interests of the beet sugar growers undertook to force the Cuban planters to cut their crop and failing in this put up a high tariff wall against foreign sugar thus raising the price considerably to American consumers. Furthermore, it gives figures to show that the world's crop is short and that the country faces a shortage. It advocates an investigation of the beet sugar crowd and the prosecution of some of them for their attempt at restraint of trade. It asserts that the consumers pay two cents per pound more for their sugar under the present tariff law than they would otherwise be called on to pay. The United States consumes far more sugar than it produces, so every consumer pays a bonus to the sugar growers.

According to a statement issued by Governor Walton today, the meeting of farm and labor organizations called by him for the 18th is not for the purpose of ousting the Reconstruction League from its position of power, but to ascertain what legislation the various groups want. Surmises have been numerous concerning his real intentions but this apparently settles the question. However, in view of his statement that he is not going to call a special session of the legislature this meeting is quite a distance in advance of the time when measures will be under consideration.

It is reported that the board of regents of the state university at its recent meeting decided to go outside of the state for a president of the institution. Perhaps it is very well to do that if a man big enough for the job can be found who will accept it. However until Oklahoma schools are taken out of the mire of politics in which they have floundered ever since statehood much of the money spent on them will continue to be wasted. Reputable school men will hesitate about risking their careers in the hands of politicians.

It is estimated that there is enough coal under the surface of the United States to last the country a little more than 6,000 years. With a prospect of that kind this generation will not likely freeze to death.

It is not the volume of money that counts so much but the rapidity with which it circulates that keeps business booming. A single $5 bill could pay many hundreds of dollars of debts in one day if applied to that purpose.

INCOMES IN OKLAHOMA

(Shawnee News)
Income tax figures for the state of Oklahoma for 1921 just made public by the collector of internal revenue, reveal some very radical changes over the peak year of 1920 and indicate how radical the process of adjustment was during the year.

While there are only one-eighth less persons paying a tax for 1921 the amounts they paid amounted to less than one-third of the figure in 1921, despite the fact that the number making returns was the second largest in the history of the state.

Compared with the United States Oklahoma shows more than the average decrease, for the country as a whole lost but 8.23 in number of returns filed while the loss in total tax was but 33.08 percent.

The number of individuals making income tax returns in Oklahoma in 1920 was 81,765, while in 1921 the number was 69,331.

The total amount of net income reported in 1920 was $295,790,791 but in 1921 the figures show but $191,816,067 and the average amount dropped from $3,617 to $2,765.

The tax itself for 1920 was $13,518,211, while in 1921 it dropped down to $4,206,507 and the average return for each person from $166 to $61.

The returns for 1921 show that Oklahoma ranks twenty-fourth in the list of state for the number of returns made, falling just below Colorado and Kentucky, while she is twenty-fifth in the total tax paid. Oregon, with 6,577 less reporting, showing $745,973 more in actual tax paid.

While 1922 was far from being a boom year itself there is reason to believe that things had become sufficiently readjusted so that an actual gain in the number reporting and the total tax paid will be shown when the report is finally made public.

SELF-MASTERY AS A FIRST AID

(Times, Asheville, N. C.)
Claude Kitchen's effectiveness as a debater was due in no small degree to the admirable control which he had over his temper. It often happened that he was the storm-center of many a congressional rally but even in the warmth of heated debate, he never lost his head. He was always the same smiling, genial Rupert, giving and receiving blows without allowing his feelings to become ruffled.

Mr. Kitchen's mastery of himself was an acquired trait. He inherited an ugly temper and in his early days he was not reluctant to exhibit it when the provocation was great. He soon learned, however, that if he hoped to succeed, he must control himself.

It appears from an anecdote for which Mr. Kitchen himself vouched that the perils of a hair-triggered temper were brought home to him by an incident which happened in the court room. The presiding judge did not decide the issues to suit the fancy of the young lawyer and Kitchen proceeded to make a scene. After saying and doing things that almost caused a free-for-all fight he brought his temper under control. As he tells the story, "It suddenly occurred to me that if I expected to get along I had to put lee on my head and a bridle on my tongue. Right there I decided that I would never get mad with anybody again."

That Kitchen succeeded well in carrying out this resolution is abundantly proven by his demeanor in congress. There was perhaps no more genial member of either house. His words were often barbed with sarcasm and compelling in their denunciation but they were uttered by a man who always had complete sovereignty over himself and who was never so deadly as when he was smiling.

Mr. Kitchen's life tends to prove that he that is slow to anger will become the mighty and that he that ruleth his spirit will take the city.

DUSTIN FARNUM A WOMAN TAMER IN NEW FOX FILM

You will see Dustin Farnum in the role of a woman tamer in his latest William Fox production "The Buster," which comes to the American Theatre next Saturday.

It is a novel and fascinating part and the robust movie idol acquires himself in a fashion that will thrill the most blasé of picturegoers. "The Buster" tells the story of the rough, handsome Westerner, who is called upon to tame a beautiful, but temperamental society belle from New York. How he tackles the most difficult of tasks and how he succeeds, goes to the making of an interesting picture.

The direction or the photoplay was in the hands of Colin Campbell, and the adaptation of the story by William Patterson White was made by Jack Sturmwasser. The photography reproduces many picturesque nature "sets" that were "shot" in the American Rockies.

The director has artistically brought to the fore the infectious smile, the splendid physique, and the manly robustness of Farnum, and wrought them all into the western tale. Romance and action are the keynotes of the theme.

In the support of the Fox star are Doris Pava, Francis McDonald, Gilbert Holmes and Luella Hutton.

What's the matter down in Oklahoma?

We sell a quantity of Kellogg's Corn Flakes down here in Oklahoma—but sales are not in proportion to our overwhelming national leadership!

I find that most people believe they are ordering Kellogg's Corn Flakes, whereas they are getting something else—THEY DO NOT ASK CLEARLY FOR KELLOGG'S CORN FLAKES!

So surely will you prefer Kellogg's Corn Flakes—once you know the extra-deliciousness, extra-crispness and substantial quality of the sunny brown flakes—that I ask you to do this:

Tell your grocer you want "KELLOGG'S CORN FLAKES"! DON'T just say "Kellogg's," or "Corn Flakes"! Make it so strong and so plain—KELLOGG'S CORN FLAKES—that you will never get it mixed up again!

I guarantee you'll find Kellogg's Corn Flakes, in the RED and GREEN package, the best ever.

Oklahoma buys great quantities of our Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krambled, and Kellogg's Whole wheat Krambled.

Well-Known Farmer's Wife Could Hardly Keep on Feet Before She Got Tanlac

Among the thousands of Oklahoma people who are praising Tanlac for their return to health is Mrs. F. T. Kennard, R. F. D. Arcadia, Okla., wife of a well known farmer. Mrs. Kennard recently said:

"Tanalac filled the requirements of my case so perfectly that I am well and happy again after ten long years of suffering, and am glad to join everybody else in its praise."

"I tried many things but until I found Tanlac nothing suited my case. I was in a terribly rundown condition from indigestion, stomach trouble and nervousness. Gas caused me great distress, and sleep was almost impossible. I had such headaches and dizzy spells I could hardly keep on my feet at times."

"But all my troubles are in the past since taking this wonderful Tanlac treatment, and I am enjoying splendid health. My gratitude for what Tanlac has done for me is unspeakable."

Tanalac is for sale by all good druggists. Take no substitute. Over 37-million bottles sold.

Twenty-Six Expeditions Now Planned By Scientists For Explorations During Summer

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, June 8.—Twenty-six scientific expeditions from nine colleges and universities of the Middle West will be working in various parts of the world during this summer, according to reports received from these institutions made public here.

In addition to the nine expeditions being sent from the University of Iowa, as announced some time ago, Ohio State University, The University of Oklahoma and Purdue University each will have two expeditions working for them, while single expeditions will go out from Indiana University, Earlham College, Notre Dame and the Indiana State Normal School.

Ohio State University will send Dr. W. C. Mills to investigate the mode of living of prehistoric men in Ohio, a thousand years ago and Prof. Robert F. Webb will head a party of students who will study rock construction, stratigraphy and plateau construction in Arizona, Colorado and New Mexico.

The University of Oklahoma will send one expedition under the leadership of Dr. Samuel Weidmann, to study ore deposits in the Miami region and another, under Dr. V. E. Monnett, to investigate and study structural geology in the Arbuckle mountains.

Indiana University students, under Professor W. A. Cogshall will go to lower California to obtain photographic records of the solar corona during the total eclipse of the sun September 10.

Earlham college students will make the trip to Yellowstone Park for a summer field course.

Purdue University plans two expeditions within the boundaries of the state. One will be to the sand dunes in northern Indiana, while the other will be made to southeastern Indiana.

Dr. James Burns, of the University of Notre Dame, assisted by Rev. M. McGarry, plans some excavations throughout the state of Michigan. Dr. Burns also contemplates making a special study of the sand dunes in the vicinity of Michigan City, Ind.

Indiana State Normal school students will make an extended journey for the purpose of studying geography. Professor F. J. Breeze will be in charge but the territory to be explored has not been announced.

Purify your Blood this Spring with S.S.S.

Of course you will purify your blood, you realize the importance of it. Many people, however, overlook the fact that winter, with its heavy meat diets, has left their blood thick and sluggish. That listless, tired feeling creeps over them. They feel that something is wrong, yet they can not say just what! But isn't it easy to throw off the ills of winter? Take for instance, S. S. S., the world's best blood medicine for five generations. S. S. S. purifies the blood. It makes you feel like yourself again.

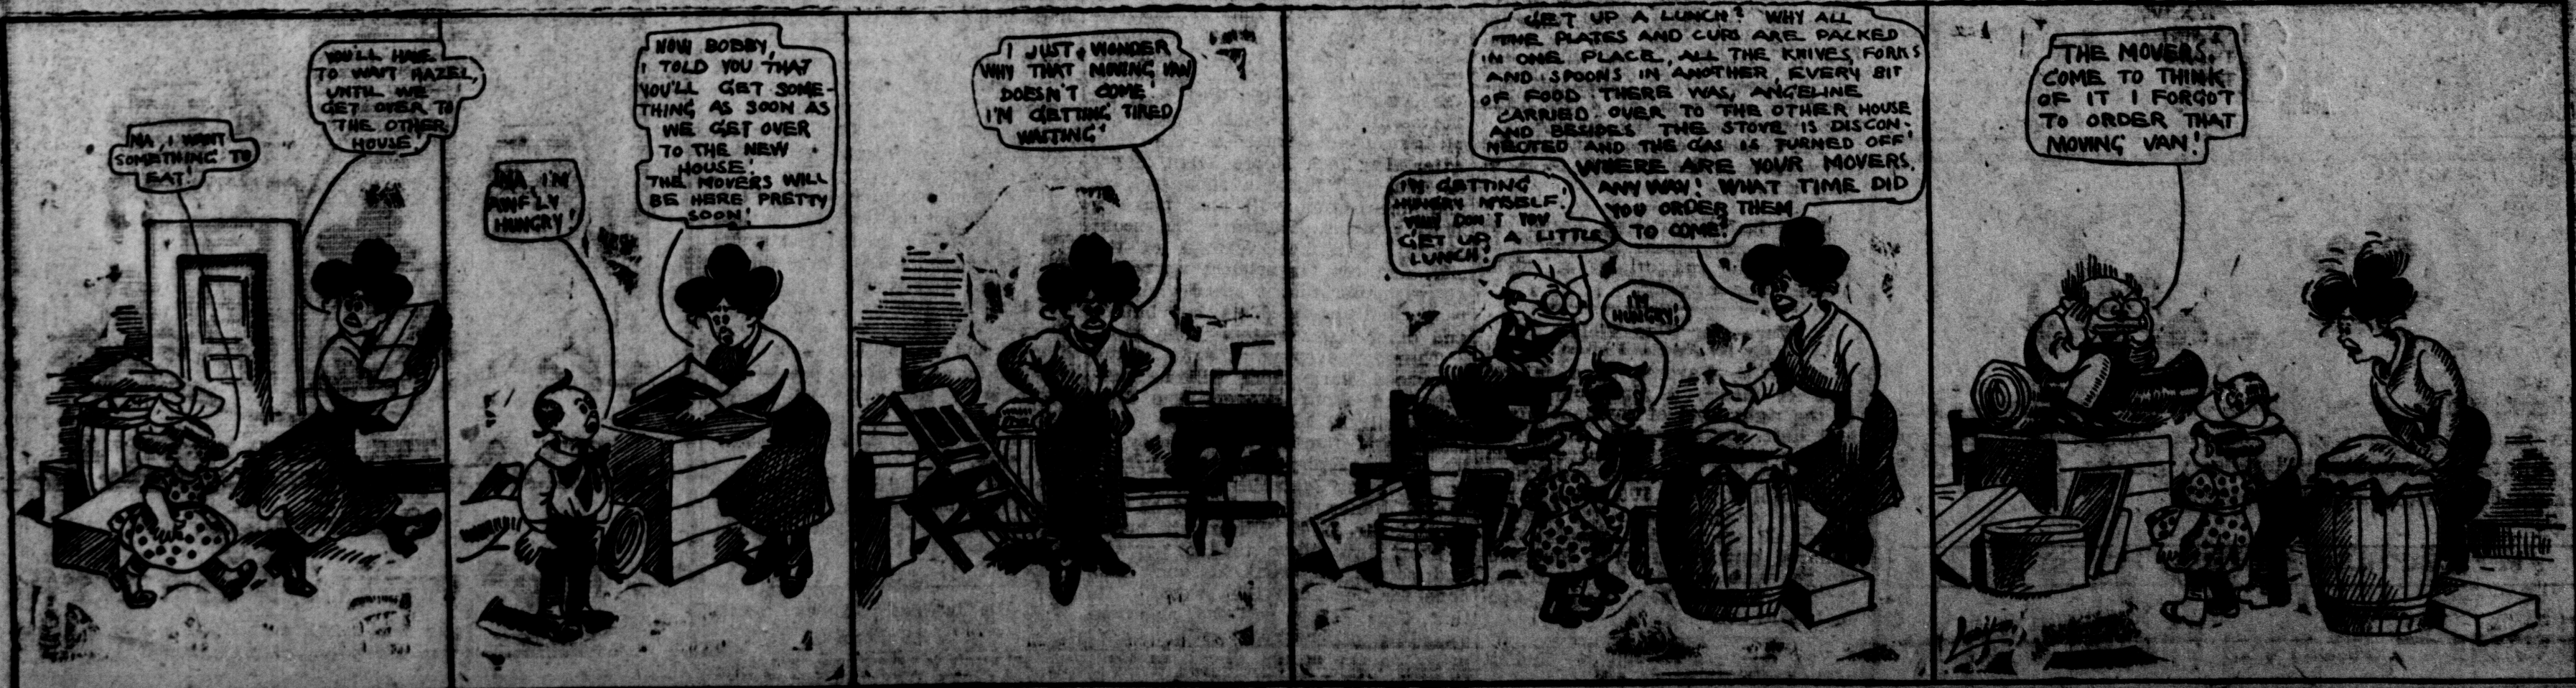

It cleans and rich. S. S. S. stops rheumatism and skin eruptions; pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema! It builds up run-down, tired men and women, beautifies complexion, and makes the flesh firmer! S. S. S. will give you greater endurance, energy and strength!

Mr. D. S. Cantrell, 1202 East 4th St., Allen, Ill., writes: "For five years I was troubled with pimples and blackheads on my face and back. After taking S. S. S. for only a short while all my pimples started to leave. I feel 100% better and can eat more than ever. S. S. S. is a great medicine."

What has become of the contented housewife we used to read about in old time fiction.

There is no broadcasting station quite as effective as the woman who hears a piece of scandal.

Even if the girl doesn't like to get married just now, she likes to be engaged.

There are more high flyers on the ground than in the aviation corps.

Crossing the street is something on the tune with music, if you stop sharp you'll be knocked flat.

It is always a very good policy when you are in doubt whether to kiss a girl good night, to give yourself the benefit of the doubt.

These getting up exercises are the ones that bother us these mornings.

It is often fortunate that the girl who thinks she is the life of the party really never knows what the other members of said party think about her.

Perhaps the greatest blessing of the radio is that it makes the cars stay back.

It is consistently rumored that the radio added 600 cuss words to our language.

We mortals have to swat and shoo The flies from dawn to dark, 'Cause Noah didn't swat the two, That rested in his ark.

It is claimed that the vamp is an unfinished kid. Most of the vamps leave the impression of being exceedingly raw and in several instances we can see their finish.

It has been consistently rumored that Bobby Blanks has rivals for the lap of ease, Bill Williamson and Derald Duncan staying up late to loaf while Bobby gets his beauty nap.

COLLEGE NOTES

SIX INSTRUCTORS SLATED FOR WORK AT COLLEGE

Six new instructors for the faculty have been employed by the college for next year. These new teachers will work in different departments of the school. Four of them are as follows:

Miss Margery Ballard will head the department of public school music next year. She is a graduate of the Girls Industrial School at Denton, Texas, and of the state teachers college of the same place. Since graduation she has been supervisor of music in Chickasha High school and at present is supervisor of music in Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Margaret Chaney will hold a position as assistant in the history department. She holds a bachelor of arts degree from Oklahoma university and has done some graduate work on a masters degree. She has taught history for a time in the Henryetta high school and for the past two years has served as county superintendent of Pottawatomie county.

Miss Grace Thelkeld will be an assistant in mathematics. She took her bachelor of arts degree at East Central two years ago and is spending the summer at Norman working on a higher degree. She has taught for some time in the local high school.

A. T. Watson, for the past year superintendent of schools at Pitzhugh and a school man of several years experience, has been employed as assistant in education. He received a bachelor of science degree from East Central this spring, and is now at Peabody College at Nashville, Tennessee, taking graduate work. Mr. Watson, at one time, held a position in the faculty of the Oklahoma A. and M. school at Stillwater.

Miss Alma Binsel, specialist in child welfare work, spoke to a small but select audience at the college auditorium last night. Her subject was child welfare work.

Professor A. L. Fentem will take the college band, consisting of thirty-two members, to Shawnee tomorrow. While there they will furnish the music for the recreation stunts that will be pulled off under the direction of Miss Anna Weaver Jones of the college.

The occasion of the stunts is the convention of the Y. P. S. C. E. in that city.

Jesse Isabel Christian, grand opera star, will appear in concert at the college auditorium at eight o'clock this evening.

Turn Out Fine Violins.

PRAGUE—Favored by a natural love of music, a plentiful supply of the right kind of resonant wood, and deft craftsmanship, the violin making industry in Czechoslovakia is assuming an important position.

Something like 4,500 home workers are engaged, and the instruments all are of high quality. One hundred and thirty-three thousand violins were turned out in 1932, besides 2,100 cellos and 1,300 double basses.

A Business Woman

By ELLA SAUNDERS

(©, 1934, Western Newspaper Union.)

THE great day that Edna Harkness had been looking forward to for 15 years had come. She had had a letter from Robert announcing that he was coming East for a visit.

Fifteen years before they had been engaged. They had quarreled and separated, and Robert had gone West. Now, a prosperous business man, he was coming back to see the old folks. And Edna. Did she remember him? Fifteen years before Edna Harkness had been a shy, timid girl stenographer with Jones & Co., the big importing house. Now she was head of one of Jones & Co.'s principal departments, earning $75 a week. She had an apartment uptown, and owned her furniture.

And, since business had absorbed all her active life, she had never married.

"If I'd married Bob," she often thought, "I'd be mothering a pack of brats, and darning Bob's socks, and scrubbing dishes, instead of coming home to my comfy little apartment, going out when I want to, and having a good time in general."

And as her friends dropped one by one into the matrimonial noose, she looked on them with wondering pity.

Bob had never married, and in her mind Edna was hoping that the old attraction would revive sufficiently on his part for him to make her a proposal.

She liked Bob a great deal, but she couldn't help remembering that last quarrel of theirs, and she meant to lead him on very imperceptibly, and then throw him down hard.

"Good gracious, any woman would be a fool to leave all this, even for a rich man like Bob!" she said.

And she thought of all that she had gathered about her in the way of material comfort. There was $4,000 in the bank, too. No, no, Bob, thank you!

When the great evening came she was spruced up to receive Bob. She looked at her reflection in the mirror. Yes, she was still a pretty woman, at thirty-five. And Bob—Bob must be forty, if he was a day.

And fat, probably. Oh, she was going to be particularly nice to Bob.

But when he came into her apartment, the same well-remembered figure, only a little older, when he took her in his arms and gave her her first kiss in fifteen—no, ten years; there had been a little flirtation one evening—for a moment the old spell held her.

"You shouldn't have done that, Bob," she said, a little indignantly. What right had he to reawaken those memories, those sentimental memories of the past?

"Edna, you look perfectly stunning," said Bob, sitting on the arm of the chair. "Oh, just the way he used to do. And I hear you've been successful."

"Yes, pretty successful," answered Edna. "And you, too?"

"Why, the fact is," said Bob, "I've made a damned fool of myself. Came East in connection with an oil deal, and those sharks in Wall street got under my skin. Yes, I've dropped twenty thousand, every penny I'd saved. However, the old job's waiting for me, and it's just a matter of going back and making good again."

Poor Bob! Edna's pity overcame her little plan of revenge. Bob, prosperous, well-dressed, and good-looking, was a foeman worthy of her steel. But Bob, well-dressed and good-looking, but without a penny, was an object of pity.

So she would not have to show him that she preferred her independence and her comforts to a husband.

"I shan't be able to come to see you again," he was saying. "I've had a wire from the firm asking me to hurry back to Denver. So I'm going back tomorrow to take up the old deadly grind. But I should feel better now I've seen you, Edna."

He rose. "Edna, I may as well tell you," he said, "that you're the only woman who has meant anything much to me in my life. And when I started East I meant to ask you something—which I can't ask you now that I've dropped everything. Because it would mean just a small house outside Denver, and not even a car."

What was that absurd woman saying? Edna listened to herself in amazement.

"I shouldn't mind if you wanted to take me back with you, Bob."

Care of the Eyes.

If your eyes are red or inflamed, or if reading gives you a headache, or if any use of the eyes gives you pain, you should consult a physician at once. Never abuse the eyes by trying to look cross-eyed, or turning the eyes in an unnatural way. Looking at bright lights, such as the sun or electric lights, is injurious.

If by chance dirt or dust get into the eyes, do not rub the eyes, but look down toward the ground and gently pull the upper lid down over the affected eye. This usually brings away the dirt. As soon as possible bathe the eyes (or better, use a clean eye dropper) and use cool boric acid lotion (teaspoonful of boric acid powder dissolved in a tumblerful of boiling water) to relieve the smarting and remove any dust that remains under the eyelids.

Tobacco smoke is bad for the eyes. It weakens and inflames them, and often makes the eyelids red along the edges.

BOTH HOUSES GO TO ADJOURNMENT WITHOUT BATTLE

No Scramble and Rush Seen In Last Hours of Legislature

PASS LATE BILLS

Conflicting Opinions Passed By State Solons On Merits of Work

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 31.—With none of the scramble and rush expected to develop in the last few hours of the session, the Ninth legislature moved smoothly through a long detail of daily routine today towards an undramatic finish.

Both houses marked time as they waited for reports from late conference committees and meanwhile disposed of a number of minor bills remaining on the calendar. The senate in the closing hours of legislative business, awaited his coming with some interest, but these rumors proved without foundation. It had been expected that the governor would ask the legislature to trim expenditures down to conform to the probable revenue.

The total appropriations are unofficially estimated at $33,163,709.65, at the 3 o'clock recess, with indications that these amounts might be shaded either up or down when the houses assemble again.

While speculation was running rampant whether Governor Walton would make an open declaration as to his attitude towards the institutional and departmental appropriation bills, administration leaders in both houses maintained that the big measures had been put through with the knowledge and consent of the chief executive. They were inclined to discount rumors that extraordinary cuts would be made in either bill. The full crew bill, which entered the house under the guise of a fish and game measure, met an ignominious end when the house voted to strike the bill from its place on the calendar.

Without objection the house passed the senate bill providing for submitting to the people the question of the state's paying deposits of defendant state banks.

One Platform Bill Passed

One of the Shawnee platform pledges was made good when the house passed the senate bill providing $155,000 for the establishment of a state institution for treating drug and liquor addicts. The old quarters of the Masonic Orphan Home in Canadian county will be purchased for this purpose.

The house bowed to Mrs. Walton in passing the Holloway bill changing the name of county poor farm to county home, when it was explained that the wife of the chief executive had made a personal request that such a law be enacted.

Stripped of its county unit plan, the house passed the bill appropriating $800,000 to aid weak school districts. Senate amendments were accepted. The bill went to the governor.

The conference report on the $417,100 health department bill also was approved.

At the opening of the session the house voted to present Speaker Murray Gibbons with his desk, chair and typewriter in keeping with custom.

Three Solons Railed

Good natured railway was indulged in at the expense of three members of the house, Long of Tulsa, Gibbons and Nance, who today were admitted to the Oklahoma bar on motion of Thomas Doyle, presiding judge of the Criminal court of Appeals.

Long is a dentist, Nance a newspaper man, and Gibbons makes his living as a grain buyer. On hearing of the admittance of the three house members to the bar, senators Jeb Johnson, Tom Anglin, and Courtland M. Feaguy introduced a resolution for repealing all laws in reference to any qualification for practicing law.

"Our supreme court and state bar commissions" said the resolution, "are admitting newspaper men, farmers, stock dealers, horse doctors and others of the state to the state bar of Oklahoma, therefore be it resolved that all laws in reference to qualifications be repealed so that any and all persons, white or black, illiterate or learned, Caucasian or other race, are permitted to practice in this state without any examination and that the state bar be abolished."

Early in the day the senate approved the weak school district appropriation bill. The $400,000 appropriation for the state health department bill also passed.

Flashes of World Events

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 1.—Slashing cuts in meat prices were announced here today after the nation's big packers had held an executive meeting at the stockyards. The new scale of prices provides the following scale of maximum prices:

Steaks.....10c per lb.
Chops.....6c per lb.
Ham and bacon 2c per lb.

It was also decreed that hereafter soup meat, roasts, sausage and other less desirable varieties will be given away free of charge with each order of the above.

In addition every person who buys as much as forty cents worth in a year will be given a bonus of 100 shares of guaranteed worthless stock.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1.—The wildest celebration in the history of the nation's capital marked the action of congress in erasing the Vostead act from the statute books.

Hotels and cafes were thronged and it is reported that the cellars of a number of hitherto dry congressmen and senators were requisitioned to supply the unprecedented demand for wines, beer and bourbon.

In the early hours of the celebration it became apparent that the supply of wet goods would be insufficient to fill the demand and in order to prevent needless suffering it was decided to apportion the liquor among the celebrants, giving each seventeen gallons of wine and bourbon and two kegs of beer.

The directors of the celebration regretted that strict enforcement of the prohibition law had cut down the supply available for distribution.

PARIS, April 1.—Heeding the plea of impoverished husbands, French modistes have decreed the passing of changing styles in ladies' wear.

A trim business suit, along tailored lines, with a hat akin to the derby or sailor model, will replace the walking suit, afternoon and evening gowns now in vogue.

The sponsors of the move believe that the new design will make it possible for every woman to get along with but one suit a year—if she presses it at night—or possibly two at the most.

Long suffering husbands and fathers are said to have pledged their unstinted support to originators of the movement which promises to make cigarette money something more than a memory of bygone days and even make it possible for friend husband to have as much as a dime at one time.

UTILITY MERGER PREDICTED NOW

Giant Illinois Light and Power Properties To Be Consolidated

(By the Associated Press)

SPRINGFIELD, Illinois, March 31.—Rumors of a consolidation of the Studebaker utility interests, represented by the Southern Illinois Light and Power Company with the McKinley properties, known as the Illinois traction system, were advanced today with the filing of a formal petition from the Illinois corporation commission.

It is proposed to consolidate these properties under the name of the Illinois Power and Light corporation. Plans for the consolidation were approved by stockholders of the Illinois traction company at Portland, Maine, last Saturday.

The proposed consolidation would bring together to one common ownership the operation of the organization of one of the largest public utilities, including the largest continuous traction line railway system in the world. These properties would serve 72,000 electric light users and 67,000 gas users, and would own 240 miles of street tracks, and 550 miles of main track electric railways.

The properties to be consolidated are now owned by more than fifty separate corporations organized under the laws of various states, each of which has been developed largely as independent property and with individual capitalization.

The petition states that as a result of the consolidation, more than 150 different kind of securities with which the properties are now financed would provide for the issuing of securities by the consolidated organization to replace those outstanding. In addition, the plan also provides securities for additional capital to meet the rapidly growing demands for power, light and traction, by the territory served.

The primary purpose of the consolidation, as pointed out in the petition, is to secure increased efficiency.

Bandits Abandon Automobile After Carrying Off Loot

(By the Associated Press)

JAY, Okla., March 31.—Four men who robbed the First National Bank of Centry, Arkansas, at noon today of $1,600 abandoned their automobile near Howe, Oklahoma, late today and made their way into the hills. Posses who had fired into the car reported at least one of the men had been wounded as the machine was stained with blood. Part of the stolen money was abandoned in the auto. Posses from here believe they have the men surrounded near Howe.

Only one girl was in the bank when the bandits came in, and she escaped with all the money in sight. None of the bandits was recognized, it was said.

Largest Program Planned Here for Trades Day Event

The greatest trade day in the history of Ada is forecasted by merchants and others interested for tomorrow. A big parade will be staged in the afternoon, cash prizes given away and great bargains offered by all the members of the Retail Merchant's association, as shown in another page of the paper.

Reports are that buyers will be here from a great radius. It is believed not fewer than ten thousand people will be on the down town streets Monday afternoon.

The cross remained over the building Saturday morning, so it is supposed that it will remain so to inform strangers that the Klan is with Ada.

SOLONS PASS ON APPROPRIATIONS

Ada College Gets Benefits of Appropriation Passage By Legislature

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 31.—(Special to News)—The Oklahoma legislature Friday evening passed the institutional appropriation bill, unanimously taking care of the East Central State Teachers College of Ada. The bill has now passed both houses and lacks only Governor Walton's signature to make it a law. It is considered about the capital that the Governor will not veto any section of it.

The bill calls for the following items for the Ada College:

New building $150,000; salaries for the first of the two year period $95,000; for the second year $100,000; for maintenance the first year $18,000; for the second year $20,000; for repairs $10,000; for sidewalks and campus improvement $1,000 each year; for summer school $11,000 each year.

In addition to these, other bills which have already passed both houses carry an appropriation of $5,000 for repairs on the old building, this being an emergency matter, and a sufficient amount to pave the part of South Francis Avenue belonging to the state.

In discussing the matter this morning, President Linscheid said the school has been taken care of much better than at any time in the past. The appropriations total about the same for the Ada institution as they do for Edmond and Durant. This is the first time that Ada has been put on an equality with Edmond by a legislature.

President Leaves Jacksonville For Visit in Augusta

(By the Associated Press)

On Board President Harding's Special Train, March 31.—The special train carrying President Harding and his vacation party from St. Augustine to Augusta, Georgia, reached Jacksonville tonight at 8:25 o'clock and left fifteen minutes later. The presidential special will reach Augusta early tomorrow. Attorney General Daugherty changed his plans to leave St. Augustine for Asheville, North Carolina, in advance of the presidential party and traveled on the same train to Jacksonville.

Just before reaching Jacksonville President Harding went up to Attorney General Daugherty's car and spent some time with him.

WILSON SILENT ON BOMB MURDER

Detective Chiefs to Lead Questioning of Bomb Murderer

(By the Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, March 31.—Many of the details of the purported confessions of Herbert Wilson, convicted murderer, alleged mail robber and former evangelist, that he manufactured the explosives the bomb which killed 39 persons and destroyed property valued at thousands of dollars in Wall Street, New York City, September 17, 1920, will be withheld from the public for the present, it was admitted today by county and federal agents.

Wilson, a prisoner in the Los Angeles county jail, has been questioned many times by groups of deputy sheriffs and postal inspectors, according to the Los Angeles Times, and these officers expect representatives of other departments of the federal government, including William J. Burns, director of the bureau of investigation, to come here to try to obtain fuller information that they as yet have not persuaded Wilson to give.

Wilson is said by a Los Angeles officer to have told him that he designed some of the most intricate parts at his home here while under the impression that it was to be used by bank burglars who wanted to wreck a vault to hide the evidence of their opening it. He stated that he went east in August before the September tragedy and at a point near New York City met a man who employed him to construct the engine of destruction which he turned over a few days before the explosion.

Holdenville Plans Erection of Five Story New Temple

Information from Holdenville is to the effect that the Masonic fraternity of that city has decided to erect a five story temple which will be strictly modern in every particular. The first floor will be rented out for business purposes and sixty office rooms are planned for other floors. Quarters will be provided for the various branches of the order.

A finance committee has been appointed and it is thought that no difficulty will be experienced in arranging for the money needed for the enterprise. The cost of the building is estimated at $100,000.

Police Searching For Men who put Children in Case

(By the Associated Press)

SAN BERNARDINO, California, March 31.—After finding Richard Jackson, five years old, unconscious, and the body of Jean Mechem, four in a showcase of a vacant building today, police today are investigating the possibility that some one put the boys in the case yesterday.

The Jensen boy died a few hours after he was found without regaining consciousness. The two children disappeared last Saturday and since then posses and officers here and in other towns in Southern California had been hunting for them. The building in which they were found is within two hundred feet of the Mechem home.

WALTON PROGRAM OCCUPIES CENTER OF STATE ACTION

About Half of Moves From Platform Carried Thru Legislature

FIVE POINTS WON

Many Measures Won After Being Adopted By Administration

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 31.—That Governor J. C. Walton's administration program occupied the center of most of the attention of the ninth legislature and that about half the measures proposed were successfully enacted by his forces was revealed in a summary prepared in the closing hours of the session today.

The summary showed that five proposals enumerated in the Shawnee platform became laws or will as soon as the governor affixes his signature. One of the Shawnee platform planks calling for impartial endorsement of all laws did not become a direct subject of legislative action. Eleven planks failed to become laws but the strength of the administration was not thrown behind two of them and four were not introduced, making a record of five won and five lost.

Sharp divisions for and against the administration were counted approximately forty times, most of them in the lower house, although some carried through both houses. Administration forces were successful in these tests just half the times, the summary shows.

Some administration successes resulted from the struggle on measures which did not originate with the administration but were taken under its wing. Some of those lost were marked up after the administration had taken over pending bills not originated by it.

Some measures, in which the administration was interested were not decided until the last day, this classification counting at least half a dozen. However, the "heart of the program" as it was termed by administration forces, was passed several days before the end of the session.

This was the market commission bill, essentially an administration bill in passage, although, as signed, the result of some compromises.

TEXAS ARMY SCANDAL UNDER FEDERAL PROBE

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Secretary Weeks has ordered Major General Eli Helmick, inspector general of the army, to make an official investigation into the controversy between Colonel Arthur Conger, commander of the 20th Infantry in Texas, and Captain Edwin H. Randles of the same organization.

The investigation will begin immediately under an officer attached to General Helmick's office on duty at corps headquarters at San Antonio. The war secretary said that the investigation was ordered before Louis K. Karns of Indianapolis reached Washington and discussed the case with him today.

Secretary Weeks declared that the investigation had been ordered after reading a letter from Mrs. Randles, sister of Mr. Karns, which is understood to have alleged that she, as wife of Captain Randles, has suffered as the result of remarks concerning her which were reported to have been made by Colonel Conger.

Mr. Karns conferred briefly with the secretary and is understood to have said that the action already taken is entirely satisfactory to him.

New World Speed Record In Plane Made By Aviators

(By the Associated Press)

DAYTON, Ohio, March 31.—Dispatches from McCook field said that new world speed records for 500 kilometers distance have been made at this field. Unofficial figures stated that Lieutenant Alex Person completed 500 kilometers in one hour, 50 minutes and 12.7-10 seconds, making approximately 163 miles an hour. Lieutenant Harold Harris with a civilian pilot, Ralph Lockwood, traveled a thousand kilometers in four hours, 52 minutes, 35.24 seconds, an average of 126 miles an hour.

Weather Man To Lend Aid To Strollers

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 31.—A smiling sun to temper winter's conquest of spring will make Easter day pleasant for innumerable women, was conceded by weather forecasters. But in announcing that concession to the participants of the annual dress review the weather forecasters told of a cold wave sweeping down out of the Arctic regions that will bring lower temperatures and frost as far as northern Florida.

While the wave was to spread across the country east of the Mississippi the section west of that dividing line will not be favored, as temperatures there will be far below normal and decidedly cool for the appearance of the Easter bonnets.

But the promise of fair weather and some rising temperatures caused the Easter paraders to take heart anew and joyfully await the dawn of tomorrow which will see them set for all the glory of their spring finery, subnormal temperatures notwithstanding.

Summer furs were expected to be an article of usefulness to paraders and not an ornament, as old man winter, asserting his supremacy over spring, was scheduled to hold a little parade himself.

VOLSTEAD TAKES FEE IN INDIANA

Fifty-five are Convicted For Violation of Liquor Laws in State.

(By the Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS, March 31.—One of the most sensational trials held in Indiana since the Volstead act came into effect was brought to a close in United States district court here today with the conviction of 55 persons on a charge of conspiracy to violate the liquor law.

The defendants are all residents of Gary and Lake county. A majority of those convicted are of foreign birth. Several of the defendants were men charged with the authority to enforce the laws and those who had taken oath to prosecute offenders. They were found guilty by a jury which began its deliberations last night and reported its verdict in court today.

Among the most prominent defendants found guilty were: Roswell O. Johnson, mayor of Gary; William A. Jones, sheriff of Lake county; William M. Dunn, judge of Gary city court; Brad Lucas, a Gary attorney; Dwight M. Cander, prosecuting attorney for Lake county; Louis E. Barnes, former sheriff of Lake county; Clyde Hunter, former prosecutor of Lake county; John Bennett, treasurer of the republican city commission; and Charles L. Clemens, justice of the peace.

Seventy-five persons living in Gary and Lake county were indicted by federal grand jury last December on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act. Of this number five pleaded guilty before trial. Seven other defendants have not yet been arrested.

Convicted Members Of Band Attempt Reverse Decision

(By the Associated Press)

DENVER, March 31.—What was regarded in legal circles as the start of a fight of the convicted members of a nationwide confidence band to reverse the verdict against them was launched today when the defendants' attorneys ordered a transcript of the case which was on trial nearly two months.

The transcript will be obtained at a cost of about $4000 according to attorneys, who indicated that there would be an appeal to the supreme court if necessary.

ALLEGED GANG WAR AT END, ST. LOUIS POLICE SAY

ST. LOUIS, March 31.—The alleged gang war which police say has claimed seven victims in the last two years has ended, according to an announcement of the police. A number of shootings from speeding automobiles in recent months has been ascribed by the police to the gang feud. The "war" had its inception in a controversy over a bootlegging affair, police declared.

There have never been any convictions in connection with the killings.

GERMANS KILLED IN UPRISING BY FRENCH SOLDIERS

Workmen in Krupp Plant are Shot Down When They Try Revolt

SIX REPORTED DEAD

French Declare Workmen In Plant Refused To Heed Orders

ESSEN, Germany, March 31.—Clashes between French forces and German workmen at the Krupp plant here today resulted in the death of five or six of the German workmen and the wounding of about thirty.

According to the French version of the affair, a lieutenant and eleven soldiers who went to the Krupp works for the purpose of requisitioning automobiles, were set upon by a mob variously estimated at from 2000 to 3000 which was called out by a sentry firing.

The mob showered stones on the soldiers while many of the men armed with revolvers fired shots at them. The soldiers returned the fire. First shooting over the heads of the mob and when the workmen refused to disperse finally aimed to kill.

When the clash was at its height an automobile, bearing two French civilian engineers, came along and these were set upon by the workmen. They were badly beaten and severely wounded. The automobile was smashed and the chauffeur took refuge among the little group of French soldiers but not before he was struck by several missiles. The engineers were taken into the Krupp plant and severely man-handled.

The French military command in Essen, when informed of the rioting sent armored cars and tanks to the scene of the uprising. This caused the workmen to retire behind their defenses. The French say that the cars, which they came to requisition are now in their possession.

LONDON, March 31.—A Reuters dispatch from Berlin said it is now asserted that eleven persons were killed and about thirty-five wounded in the fight at Essen between the French troops and workers in the Krupp plant. A dispatch to The Central News said two French were killed.

ESSEN, March 31.—The French announced tonight that they are positive a premeditated and concerted effort was made to bring their soldiers and the German workmen into collision. They declared that those responsible for the outbreak were former members of the German security police who have been disarmed by the French. The responsibility of the Krupp management, they claim, is also gravely involved through the blowing of a siren alarm which signaled the workmen to assemble. Severe penalties will be inflicted, the nature of which have not yet been determined.

Postal Receipts Doubled Here in Past Ten Years

Postal receipts have been more than doubled during the past 10 years, according to an official report from Washington received this week.

Postal receipts for 1913 amounted to over $15,000 while the reports for 1923 bring the total well past $30,000.

This increase has been gradual since 1913 and the doubling of the amount has been due to the steady growth of the city.

While the period following the war showed a drop in amount of postal receipts, this fact is given to the increase from 2 to 3 cents for stamps on first class mail matter. Approximately 17 per cent of the amount is given to the increase in postage stamp fees during the war.

ENDURANCE FLIGHT OF TWO AVIATORS IS FAILURE

DAYTON, Ohio, March 31.—The attempted endurance flight of Lieutenant J. H. McReady and Oakley G. Kelley ended in failure early today when their rebuilt Fokker monoplane developed engine trouble and the two were forced to land at Wilbur Wright field. There were no indications today as to when a flight will be attempted again. The two are seeking to better their own endurance record of 35 hours, 15 minutes and 18 seconds.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

DUTY OF THE STRONG:—We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves.—Romans 15:1.

EASTER THOUGHTS

The belief in a life after death is universal. No race, or tribe has yet been found so degraded but that it had some sort of a belief in another existence in a world where conditions are far different from those in this sphere. The thought of passing into oblivion being utterly blotted out from living things is intolerable to mankind. Races have wandered far from their original moorings, but all have clung to the belief that another life awaits man.

However, this hope has its fullest expression in the Christian religion. It is here that the human family finds its most substantial foundation for building for eternity. Other teachers had outlined systems of philosophy based on immortality, but Christ was the only one who could speak with the authority of one who was master of life and death. During His ministry He constantly kept before His followers the thought of a kingdom not of this world where sorrows are unknown and where those who have merited it shall be rewarded for the tribulations undergone along the road leading to the gates of eternal bliss. As proof of the truth of His teachings, it was necessary to crown His work by His own resurrection, thus removing the last lingering doubt of His mission in this world.

The resurrection of the Savior took place in the early spring time when nature was throwing off her winter's sleep and was springing into life again. It was indeed fitting that this should be the season of His throwing off the shackles of death and coming forth as the first of them who slept and rose again. He had led his humble band of disciples in this life and He was now to lead the way to the life to come.

For almost 2,000 years his followers have observed this miraculous event and with the passing of time it has lost none of its meaning. It is a time of rejoicing today as it was when the women at the empty tomb first beheld Him and knew that He lived again and that even death could not hold him in its power.

Some people wonder how it is that so many brutal murders are committed in New York City. It is not hard to explain if we will only recall that New York City, counting the suburban cities, has about three times as many people as Oklahoma, and is made up of all nationalities. There are places in New York city where you cannot hear English spoken unless you speak it yourself. There is the worst and possibly the best there is in life. A city like New York brings out the best or the worst, generally speaking, and also it attracts the strongest and the weakest. The strongest go there because there are more people from which to extract profits. The weak go there because it is the easiest place to hide crime or find employment in questionable lines. Any person can find exactly what he wants in New York if he has the price and knows where to go.

We have heard many favorable comments upon the building section of The Ada Evening News last Sunday. Although most of the building had been mentioned one time or another, when the readers saw a summary of it all at one time, they were amazed at the magnitude of the present building program. Yes, Ada is very much a live town, has always been a live town, and we now see visions of a beautiful little city extending many miles from Main and Broadway within a comparatively few years. When Tulsahoma becomes a state, Ada will be the capital, East Central State Teachers College will be the university, and we will permit McAlester to keep the penitentiary.

The radio is another aid in spreading a drag net for criminals. For example an auto was stolen at Rock Island Ill., Friday evening at 7:10. At 8 o'clock the theft and description of the car was broadcasted from Davenport, Iowa, and was picked up in Ada as well as all other places which happened to be tuned in at the time. The broadcaster followed this with the account of a fine dog stolen somewhere in Iowa and offering a substantial reward for his return. The next move will be the broadcasting of photos of criminals who are wanted and then the troubles of fugitives will indeed be multiplied.

Cable reports say that a recent session of the Japanese parliament was enlivened by the throwing of ink bottles. Evidently the Japs have been reading the proceedings of the Oklahoma legislature.

Washington dispatches say that the progressive Republicans in congress have determined that there shall not be any gumshoeing or pussyfooting in the next congress. It is not stated just how they expect legislation to be enacted.

It is Easter Sunday. Let's go to church. Let's go to worship if we can, but let's go.

PI KAPPA SIGMA ENTERTAIN WITH MISS BOLEN

The active members of the Pi Kappa Sigma sorority held a "social hour" at the home of Celma Bolen, Saturday from 2:30 to 3:30, honoring Miss Gerda Bills, who is home for the week end.

Loyal Friends Entertained.

Last Friday evening the Loyal Friends class of the First Christian church were delightfully entertained by Miss Elizabeth Myers at her home on South Rennie, which was beautifully decorated with Easter motifs.

After a pleasant evening had been spent enjoying games, music and contests, delicious refreshments consisting of Easter cream and angel food cake were served to the following: Misses Mildred Robinson, Jessie Mae Cochran, Minnie Cox, Blanche McMin, Lena Hicks, Jeor- eldine Lee, Lena Simpson, Pauline Lee, Virby Mallory, Frances Walters, Naomi Greer, Opal Vonhoozer, Pearl Laxton, Edith Moore, Susanne Holman, and Messrs. Sam Cox, Odie Tammison, Clifton Parker, Charles Cunningham, Burgess Steed, Oscar Parker, Glen Walters, Manuel Sanders, M. P. Myers, John Turley, Cecil Qualis, O. E. Parker and Mesdames C. E. Cunningham and O. E. Parker.

ASSOCIATES ORGANIZED TO SEND BAND TO NATIONAL MEET

Friday afternoon, at the request of Mr. Hill, principal of the High School a group of parents met in the school auditorium to discuss plans for sending the high school band to the national band meet to be held in Chicago in June. The project was enthusiastically endorsed by the parents of the boys and the project will be developed later in the year.

Later the meeting resolved into a High school Parent Teachers' association to be composed not only of the mothers of the students but also of the fathers. With this result in view meetings are to be held in the evening rather than in the afternoons as is usual.

As part of the work of organization the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. J. A. Ridling, Vice-president, Mrs. W. B. Jones; Secretary, Mrs. H. B. Roach.

The following committees were appointed: Committee on affiliation, Mrs. Mabel Browall, Mrs. R. W. Simpson and Mrs. E. L. Spencer. Program Committee, Mrs. Williamson and Mrs. Simpson.

The next meeting of the association will be held at the high school auditorium Thursday evening, April 5th, at 8:00 o'clock. A short program will be given followed by permanent organization of the association, closing with a general mixer. A good time is assured and the public is invited.

MISS EMMA MCCLURE IS HONORED IN PARTIES

Miss Emma McClure of Tulsa University who is the house guest of Miss Kate Knight in her home on East Ninth street, for the Easter holidays has been the inspiration for many happy gatherings.

She was the luncheon guest of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Malloy Friday noon, Friday afternoon Miss Knight assisted by the faculty members received in the college parlors honoring Miss McClure when several hundred students and friends called. Misses Jones, Montgomery, Givens and Hoover were her hostesses for six o'clock dinner at the Harris. Saturday luncheon was spent with Mrs. E. C. Wilson, 215 S. Francis. Miss Ann Ashley was host for dinner at her home on East Main street.

Mrs. S. Jackson and Mrs. Virgil Hale entertained informally in the home of Mrs. Hale, 129 N. Hope, Saturday afternoon when guests were limited to teachers and associates of Miss McClure while a member of the College staff.

CONFEDERATE SPONSOR AND MAIDS OF HONOR NAMED

Captain A. M. Crow, in announcing the regular monthly meeting of the Ada camp of Confederate veterans at the City Hall Sunday afternoon at 2:30, states that he has appointed Miss Dorothy Duncan of this city as sponsor of the Ada camp in the national veterans meeting at New Orleans, April 11, 12, and 13.

Accompanying Miss Duncan will be Misses Frances Case and Celma Bolen as maids of honor, and Mrs. W. H. Wells as matron of honor. Captain J. C. Cates will head the delegation from the local camp. Other delegates will be chosen at the meeting.

Captain Crow is anxious that sons and daughters of veterans also attend the meeting here. The election of delegates and other matters of business concerning the reunion will be taken up.

The delegates will go from Ada to Fort Worth by the Frisco, meeting Major General Taylor of Altus there. They will then go on to New Orleans by way of Waco and Houston.

Captain Crow insists that he is proud of his choices for sponsors and maids of honor, and believes that they will make a mark for themselves and Ada at the reunion.

FAIRLAND.—Okla.—This town has just stepped into the "white way" class, with an arrangement by which electricity for lighting purposes is furnished from Miami under a 29-year contract. Few homes have installed electric lights yet, but streets and stores are brilliant with the new illumination.

Disney Bill to Vote

The Disney bill, appropriating $5,000 for a survey to be presented to the next legislature reached a vote in the senate during the afternoon and was returned to the house. By lunch time, the senate had practically cleared its calendar. Like the house, it was marking time to permit the enrolling department to get the last seventy-five measures ready for the signatures of the presiding officers.

Conflicting estimates of the expenditures were expressed in statements issued tonight by various solons. Several members of the body asserted it was up to Governor Walton to do some pruning of the money bills so as to get within the earning power of the state. On the other hand, the record of the session was "viewed with pride."

Solons Express Views
W. E. Disney, independent leader, declared "the extravagance has been greater than any one would have dreamed possible," and hoped that the governor would veto some of the appropriations items.

James C. Nance, house appropriation committee chairman, in a lengthy review of the work of the Ninth session justified the amounts voted by the house and declared "The item of taxes for the state government is so small that the average taxpayer will not be harmed."

Richard Elam announced that he was "not going to stop in the work to get the appropriations cut. I am going to urge all representatives to have their constituents to wire the governor urging him to strike out items of the institutional appropriation bill and reduce the total by several million," he said.

Chairman John H. Carlock of the senate appropriation committee said the total of all appropriations exceeded $33,000,000, which is far larger than the total spent by any former assembly. He urged as a measure for future economy a constitutional amendment to do away with secondary schools now supported by the state.

Ladd staggered along the trail; at times he crawled. The Yaqui gained; he might have had wings; he leaped from jagged crust to jagged crust; his sure-footedness was a wonderful thing.

But for Gale the marvel of that endless period of watching was the purpose of the bandit Rojas. He had now no weapon. Gale's glass made this fact plain. There was death behind him, death below him, death before him, and though he could not have known it, death above him. He never faltered—never made a misstep upon the narrow, flinty trail. When he reached the lower end of the level ledge, Gale's poignant doubt became a certainty. Rojas had seen Mercedes. It was incredible, yet Gale believed it. Then, his heart clamped as in an icy vise, Gale threw forward the Remington, and sinking on one knee, began to shoot. He emptied the magazine. Puffs of dust near Rojas did not even make him turn.

Gale wheeled, rigid now, steeling himself to one last forlorn hope—that Mercedes could defend herself. She had a gun. He doubted not at all that she would use it. But, remembering her terror of this savage, he feared for her. Rojas reached the level of the ledge. He halted. He crouched. It was the act of a panther. Manifestly he saw Mercedes within the cave. Then faint shots patted the air, broke in quick echo. Rojas went down as if struck by a heavy blow. He was hit. But even as Gale yelled in sheer madness the handi leaped erect. He seemed too quick, too supple to be badly wounded. A slight, dark figure dashed out of the cave. Mercedes! She backed against the wall. Gale saw a puff of white—heard a report. But the handi lunged at her. Mercedes ran, not to try to pass him, but straight for the precipice. Her intention was plain. But Rojas overtook her, even as she reached the verge. Then a piercing scream pined across the crater—a scream of despair.

Gale closed his eyes. He could not bear to see more.

Then, indeed, Mercedes' scream. Gale leaped and just in time to leap and save the quarryman as he staggered, apparently for the steep slope. And then, as Gale dragged him back, both fell. Gale saved his friend, but he plunged into a cholla. He drew his hands away full of the great glistening cones of thorns.

"Gale! Gale! Gale, shoot! Shoot! Kill! Kill! Kill!"

"Gale! Gale! Gale! Kill! Kill! Kill!"

Gale, stunned for the instant, stood with upturned hands, and zoned from Thorne across the crater. Rojas had not killed Mercedes. He was overpowered. His actions seemed slow, weak, purposeful. Here were death, death, a trapped she-wolf, Mercedes was fighting. She tore, struggled, flung herself.

Rojas' intention was terribly plain. In agony now, both mental and physical, cold and sick and weak, Gale gripped his rifle and aimed at the struggling form on the ledge. He pulled the trigger. The bullet struck up a cloud of red dust close to the struggling couple. Again Gale fired, hoping to hit Rojas, praying to kill Mercedes. The bullet struck high. A third—fourth—fifth time the Remington spoke—in vain! The rifle fell from Gale's racked hands.

How horribly plain that fiend's intention! Gale tried to close his eyes, but could not. He prayed wildly for a sudden blindness—to faint as Thorne had fainted. But he was transfixed to the spot with eyes that pierced the red light.

Mercedes was growing weaker, seemed about to collapse.

"Oh, Jim Lash, are you dead?" cried Gale. "Oh, Laddy! . . . Oh, Yaqui!"

"Suddenly a dark form literally fell down the wall behind the ledge where Rojas fought the girl. It sank in a heap, then bounded erect.

"Yaqui!" screamed Gale, and he waived his bleeding hands till the blood bespattered his face. Then he choked. Utterance became impossible.

The Indian bent over Rojas and flung him against the wall. Mercedes, sinking back, lay still. When Rojas got up the Indian stood between him and escape from the ledge. Rojas backed the other way along the narrowing shelf of lava. His manner was abrupt, stupefied. Slowly he stepped backward.

It was then that Gale caught the white gleam of a knife in Yaqui's hand. Rojas turned and ran. Yaqui followed slowly. His figure was dark and menacing. But he was not in a hurry. When he passed off the ledge Rojas was edging farther and farther along the wall. He was clinging now to the lava, creeping inch by inch. Perhaps he had thought to work around the lattices or climb over it. Evidently he went as far as possible, and there he clung, an unscalable wall above, the abyss beneath.

The approach of the Yaqui was like a slow dark shadow of gloom. If it seemed so to the stricken Gale what must it have been to Rojas? He appeared to sink against the wall. The Yaqui stole closer and closer. He was the savage now, and for him the moment must have been glorified. Gale saw him gaze up at the great circling walls of the crater, then down into the depths. Perhaps the red haze hanging above him, or the purple haze below, or the deep caverns in the lava, held for Yaqui spirits of the desert, his gods to whom he called. Perhaps he invoked shadows of his loved ones and his race, calling them in this moment of vengeance.

Gale heard—or imagined he heard—that wild, strange Yaqui cry.

Then the Indian stepped close to Rojas, and bent low, keeping out of reach. How slow were his motions. Would Yaqui never—never end it? . . . A wall drifted across the crater to Gale's ears.

Gale Heard—or Imagined He Heard—That Wild, Strange Yaqui Cry.

Rojas fell backward and plunged sheer. The bank of white cholla caught him, held him upon their steel spikes. How long did the dazed Gale sit there watching Rojas wrestling and writhing in convulsive frenzy? The handi now seemed mad to win the delayed death.

When he broke free he was a white patched object no longer human, a ball of cholla burrs, and he slipped off the bank to shoot down and down into the purple depths of the crater.

CHAPTER XIII

Changes at Forlorn River.

The first of March saw the federal occupation of the garrison at Casita. After a short, decisive engagement the rebels were dispersed into small bands and driven eastward along the boundary line toward Nogales.

It was the destiny of Forlorn River, however, never to return to the slow, sleepy tenor of its former existence. Belding's predictions came true. That straggling line of home-seekers was but a forerunner of the real invasion of Altar valley. Refugees from Mexico and from Casita spread the word that water and wood and grass and land were to be had at Forlorn River; and as if by magic the white tents and red adobe houses sprang up to glisten in the sun.

Belding was happier than he had been for a long time. He believed that evil days for Forlorn River, along with the apathy and lack of enterprise, were in the past. He hired a couple of trustworthy Mexicans to ride the boundary line, and he settled down to think of ranching and irrigation and mining projects. Every morning he expected to receive some word from Sonoyta or Yuma, telling him that Yaqui had guided his party safely across the desert.

Among the many changes coming to pass in Forlorn River were the installing of post office service and the building of a mesquite drinking-house. Belding had worked hard for the post office, but he did not like the idea of a saloon for Forlorn River. "Still, that was an inevitable evil. The Mexicans would have mesquite. A good many Americans drifted into Forlorn River—miners, cowboys, prospectors, outlaws, and others of nondescript character; and these men, of course, made the saloon, which was also an inn, their headquarters. Belding, with Carter and other old residents, saw the need of a sheriff for Forlorn River.

One morning early in this spring month, while Belding was on his way from the house to the corral, he saw Nell running Blanco Jose down the road at a gallop that amazed him. She did not take the turn of the road to come in by the gate. She put Jose at a four-foot wire fence, and came clattering into the yard.

It did not take more than half an eye for Belding to see that she was furious.

"Nell, what's come off now?" asked Belding.

"I'm not going to tell you," she replied, and started away, leading Jose toward the corral.

Belding leisurely followed. She went into the corral, removed Jose's bridle, and fed him to the watering-trough. Belding came up, and without saying anything began to unbuckle Jose's saddle girths. But he ventured a look at Nell. The red had gone from her face, and he was surprised to see her eyes brimming with tears. Most assuredly this was not one of Nell's tantrums. While taking off Jose's saddle and hanging it in the shed Belding pondered in his slow way. When he came back to the corral Nell had her face against the bars, and she was crying. He slipped a big arm around her and waited.

"Dad, I don't want you to think me a— a baby any more," she said. "I've been insulted."

With a specific fact to make clear thought in Belding's mind he was never slow.

"I know something unusual had come off. I guess you'd better tell me."

"Dad, I will, if you promise."

"What?"

"Not to mention it to mother, not to pack a gun down there, and never, never tell Dick."

Belding was silent. Seldom did he make promises readily.

"If you don't promise I'll never tell, that's all," she declared, firmly.

Belding deliberated a little longer. He knew the girl.

"Well, I promise not to tell mother," he said, presently, "and seeing you're here safe and well, I guess I won't go packing a gun down there, wherever that is. But I won't promise to keep anything from Dick that perhaps he ought to know."

Nell, regarding her composure, wiped her eyes and smoothed back her hair.

"The other day, Wednesday," she began, "I was coming home, and in front of that mesquite drinking place there was a crowd. It was a noisy crowd. I didn't want to walk out into the street or seem afraid. But I had to do both. There were several young men, and if they weren't drunk they certainly were rude. I never saw them before, but I think they must belong to the mining company that was run out of Sonora by rebels. Anyway, these young fellows were Americans. They stretched themselves across the walk and snarled at me. I had to go out in the road. One of them, the rudest, followed me. He was a big fellow, red-faced, with prominent eyes and a bold look. He came up beside me and spoke to me. I ran home. And as I ran I heard his companions jeering.

"Well, today, just now, when I was riding up the valley road I came upon the same fellows. They had instruments and were surveying. Remembering Dick, and how he always wished for an instrument to help work out his plan for irrigation, I was certainly surprised to see these strangers surveying—and surveying upon Laddy's plot of land. It was a sandy road there, and Jose happened to be walking. So I reined in and asked these engineers what they were doing. The leader, who was that same bold fellow who had followed me, seemed much pleased at being addressed. He said he was glad to tell me he was going to run water all over Altar valley. Dad, you can bet that made me wild. That was Dick's plan, his discovery, and here were surveyors on Laddy's claim.

"Then I told him that he was working on private land and he'd better get off. He said something about not seeing any squatters on the land, and then he shut up tight on that score. But he began to be flirty again. He got hold of Jose's bridle, and before I could catch my breath he said I was a peach, that he wanted to make a date with me, that his name was Chase, that he owned a gold mine in Mexico. He said a lot more I didn't gather, but when he called me 'Dad'—I—well, I lost my temper.

"I jerked on the bridle and told him to get on. He held on and rolled his eyes at me. He seemed sure of conquest. One thing was certain, he didn't know the least bit about horses. It scared me the way he got in front of Jose. I thanked my stars I wasn't up on Blanco Diablo. Well, Dad, I'm a little ashamed now, but I was mad. I slashed him across the face with my quirt. Jose jumped and knocked Mr. Chase into the sand. I didn't get the horse under control till I was out of sight of those surveyors, and then I let him run home."

"Nell, I guess you punished the fellow enough. Maybe he's only a conceited softy. But I don't like that sort of thing. It isn't western."

"I'm sorry now, Dad. Perhaps the fellow was hurt. But what could I do? Let's forget all about it, and I'll be careful where I ride in the future."

. . . Dad, what does it mean, this surveying around Forlorn River?"

"I don't know, Nell," replied Belding, thoughtfully. "It worries me. It looks good for Forlorn River, but bad for Dick's plan to irrigate the valley. Lord, I'd hate to have some one forestall Dick on that!"

"No, no, we won't let anybody have Dick's rights," declared Nell.

"Where have I been keeping myself not to know about these surveyors?" muttered Belding. "They must have just come."

Belding discovered that he was, indeed, the last man of consequence in Forlorn River to learn of the arrival of Ben Chase and son, mine owners and operators in Sonora. They, with a force of miners, had been besieged by rebels and finally driven off their property. This property was not destroyed, but held for ransom. And the Chases, pending developments, had packed outfits and struck for the border. Casita had been their objective point, but, for some reason which Belding did not learn, they had arrived instead at Forlorn River. It had taken Ben Chase just one day to see the possibilities of Altar valley, and in three days he had men at work.

Belding returned home without going to see the Chases and their operations. He wanted to think over the situation. Next morning he went out to the valley to see for himself. Mexicans were hastily erecting adobe houses upon Laddy's one hundred and sixty acres, upon Dick Gale's, upon Jim Lash's and Thorne's. There were men staking the valley floor and the river bed. That was sufficient for Belding. He turned back toward town and headed for the camp of these intruders.

He came to a big tent with a huge canvas fly stretched in front, under which sat several men in their shirt sleeves. They were talking and snacking.

YOUNG SCOTTISH FEEB HAS ROYAL WALLOP

(By the Associated Press)

London—Scotland has a peer with a punch in both fists. He is the young Marquis of Douglas, son of heir of the thirteenth duke of Hamilton. The marquis recently competed for the Scottish amateur middleweight championship, defeating J. A. Hengerson on points but afterwards losing to "Riverter" J. Robinson. The marquis flogged his man for six counts in the first round, but the "Riverter" arose and thereafter red blood proved better than blue.

Young Douglas is a friend of Eddy Eagan, the American Rhodes scholar at Oxford, who is the intercollegiate heavyweight champion. Eagan is a frequent visitor at the Hamilton estates.

FAMOUS PARIS HOUSE FOR HONORED GUESTS

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS—If another American president ever visits France, he will probably be housed in the famous mansion that was formerly the home of the great French diplomat Talleyrand and later the headquarters of the revolutionary government 1848.

The mansion was sequestered by the government during the war, at the outbreak of which it was the seat of the Austrian embassy. American ambassador Horlick recently had his eye on it as being the most eligible place for the new home of the American embassy under the congressional appropriation for that purpose, but found it out of the question, since the mansion is valued by the French government at 26,000,000 francs, and at the present rate of exchange the American appropriation would yield only about one-quarter of that sum. The mansion has a beautiful lawn and garden attached, and is regarded as one of the finest properties in the city. The government has finally decided to restore its interior, which is somewhat worn and faded and keep it as a place in which to entertain visiting heads of states.

English women have become so interested in weaving their own towels that many of them have installed costly looms in their homes.

PONCA CITY, Okla.—The highest price ever paid for a business site in Ponca City was recorded recently when A. Monsour purchased a 50-foot frontage at Third Street

ARGENTINA OUT FOR ATHLETICS

South American Country May Send Track Team to Olympic Meet

(By the Associated Press)

BUENOS AIRES.—There is a strong possibility that Argentina will be represented at the international Olympic games next year in Paris. President Alvear in a recent interview declared himself to be much in favor of the idea and has promised his support.

The triumph attained by Argentine athletes at the South American Olympic games held in Rio de Janeiro last year has given an added stimulus to the hopes of those who think that the Argentines may make a good showing at the Paris meeting.

At the Rio de Janeiro games the Argentine representatives scored 94 points, being followed by the Chileans with 85, the Brazilians with 56 and the Uruguayans with 48. The best individual showing of the Argentines on that occasion was put up by Enrique Thompson, who covered the 400 meters hurdles event in 56 2-5 seconds. The time put up by Thompson is the best ever put up by a citizen of a Latin American country. The 110 meters hurdles was covered by Newbery, Argentine, in 16 seconds, while another Villanilla, only 16 years old, recorded 1.31 meters in the high jump. The Argentine athletes won the South American championship in tennis, fencing and horsemanship.

The attendance of the Argentines at Paris would be controlled by the Argentine Sporting Federation which is creating a special committee on Olympic games. Argentina probably would be represented in football, athletics, tennis, fencing, shooting, and possibly rowing, swimming and boxing.

Argentina has only recently attained some prominence in world sport. In addition to the good showing made by her polo players in Great Britain and the United States it may be recalled that only last year an Argentine swimmer, Rousea Maciel, established a world record for distance swimming and endurance when he swam over the River Plate on March 12, covering 54 kilometers 300 meters, staying on that occasion 24 hours, 33 minutes 40 seconds in the water. Lillian Harrison, a 19 year old Argentine girl, on February 3, this year established the feminine world record for endurance by swimming down the River Parana to Buenos Aires from Zarate in 21 hours 30 minutes.

CLIMAX EGG MASH
Balanced for Southwest needs

Healthy hens lay the most eggs. The dried buttermilk in Climax Egg Mash is rich in lactic acid and keeps hens healthy. Alfalfa leaf meal supplies the necessary element of "green" feed. Mash is balanced for our mild winters. It has less fat—less heating—and produces more eggs here than northern high-fat content feeds. Get Climax Feeds in Red Stripe Bags for better poultry results. WALTON DECLARES STATE WILL CLAIM NO LIVES

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS.—French wine growers propose to "carry the war into Egypt" by competing with the American prohibitionists on their own soil. They propose to market "grape juice" the great vintages of France which are prohibited in America as "wine."

A conference now in session here at which the wine growers of Burgundy, Bordeaux and other producing districts are represented is considering how French wines may be de-alcoholized for the American market.

If the plans in view are realized, the famous vintages such as Beaune, Chateau-Lafite, Chamberlain and Pouilly may again find their way to American tables.

WALTON DECLARES STATE WILL CLAIM NO LIVES

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 31.—There will be no executions in Oklahoma for capital offenses during the next four years Governor J. C. Walton declared tonight in an address to a joint session of the legislature. "The state will take no lives while I am in the governor's chair," Walton said.

DEATH TOLL OF WRECK INCREASES TO EIGHT

COLUMBUS, March 31.—The death of W. L. Seibert, Cincinnati, student locomotive fireman, this morning, increased the death toll of the wreck of the Southwest Limited of the Big Four Railroad at the northern outskirts of the city yesterday to eight.

Eleven injured at the hospitals today were reported on the road to recovery. 108 passengers were aboard the train.

ADA DELEGATES TO ATTEND MEET

Seven Postal Employees To Represent Departments In State Meet

Ada will be well represented at a meeting of state postmasters and postoffice employees at Oklahoma City, April 2, according to the announcement of M. F. Manville, postmaster.

Seven employees of the local postoffice will attend the conference which is aimed at the betterment of the postal department in its service to the public.

Each department in the local postoffice will be represented at the conference. City and rural carriers, clerks and officials will seek departmental information at the conference.

Approximately 2,000 delegates are expected to attend the conference from practically every town in the state. From the postmaster to the rural carrier will be represented in group meeting during the day.

A special railroad rate reduction has been granted to delegates for the conference, one-half fare being allowed for the trip from any point in the state.

According to an official bulletin, postmasters and employees are requested to register at the Hickins Hotel upon arrival in Oklahoma City.

Postmaster Claude Weaver of Oklahoma City has sent a special invitation to Postmaster Manville for the conference Monday.

A special entertainment program has been arranged for the visiting delegates after the business affairs of the meeting are disposed of. Group meetings for postmasters, railway mail clerks, city and rural carriers, supervisory officials and postoffice clerks are scheduled for the day.

Second Assistant Postmaster General Paul Henderson and Third Postmaster General W. Irving Glover are scheduled for addresses of instruction during the conference. State and city officials have been placed on the program for the conference.

The following of the postoffice force will attend the conference: Wilbur Lee, E. T. Sumner, M. E. Qualls, W. H. Burdeshaw, M. F. Manville, Earnest Hughes and Joe Reper.

KATY SYSTEM EMERGES FROM RECEIVERSHIP

ST. LOUIS, March 31.—The Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway will emerge from the receivership into which it was thrown in September of 1915 at midnight tonight when a new company incorporated as the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad begins operating the system. Motion to admit them to the state bar was made by Justice Thomas H. Doyle.

CHICAGO MAYORALTY RACE REACHES FINAL STAGES

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, March 31.—Chicago's mayoralty campaign wound up tonight with the adherents of both candidates predicting victory in Tuesday's election. Homer K. Galt, chairman of the republican county commission, said tonight that Arthur C. Luoder, former postmaster, would win on the republican ticket by at least 40,000 votes, while supporters of Judge William F. Dwyer, democrat, predicted that he will be elected by all the way from 100,000 to 175,000 votes.

PISTOL SHOTS LEAD TO FINDING OF COUPLE

(By the Associated Press)
CHELSEA, Mass., March 31.—Pistol shots that killed a man and woman in a tenement house here tonight started a fire in the place and led to the finding of the two bodies. The victims were Mrs. Kate Pryor and Allen Perry, both negroes. Five empty revolver shells were found in the room but the weapon itself was missing.

SIX CHARGES FILED IN CLOSING OF BANK

McALESTER, March 31.—Six charges of accepting deposits in an insolvent bank and fraudulent use of deposits were filed yesterday against S. W. A modest girl walks down the street
All dainty, prim and sweet,
She did not peer from under bat
To where some jelly idly sat.
She did not walk with sloven stride,
But sought her loveliness to hide.
She did not paint as is the rule,
Too bad—no dream—just April Fool.

Not all the painted Easter chicks stay in baskets.

Talk about time changes—How about Easter?

In ye' days of old, people used to celebrate Easter by hidin' eggs but now pa and husband does it by exposing dressed chickens.

Everything is for the best though. Think of what little kick one could derive from hunting eggs, only the color is in doubt.

On the other hand, one has a thousand surprises in store when the dressed chicken parade starts.

Every year people wonder about the weather conditions and if the sky is dark they lament with the disagreeable information that the parade will be off because of inclement weather.

People who study feminine habits would contradict the weather bureau any time since a woman never allows any to interfere when a new hat rests in the family closet.

Here are a few nice April Fool jokes for home folks:

1. Tell your wife to buy a few more clothes since she has been so economical.

2. Let the baby play with your razor.

3. Invite a few friends out to sample your champagne.

4. Invite your neighbor to inspect the green onions in your garden.

5. Explain to your wife, why the legislature is.

MISSOURI MUSIC CLUBS TO MEET

Attempt to be Made to Found Southwest Conference.

(By the Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 31.—At the annual convention of the Missouri State Federation of Music clubs, which starts here tomorrow, an attempt will be made to found a Southwest Conference comprising music clubs of Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma. It was announced here today by Miss Jessie M. Crosby, state chairman of publicity for the Missouri federation. Representatives from the other three states will be here, she said. Reduced rates have been offered by the railroads for those attending the convention from the four states.

As an added attraction to the regular convention, the federated music clubs of Kansas City will present in Convention hall the nights of April 4 and 5, Mendelssohn's oratorio, "Elijah," staged as grand opera. This, Miss Crosby said, will be the "biggest thing ever attempted in music in Kansas City." With 2,350 persons taking part in the singing, the choruses will be made up of more trained voices than ever heard here before at one time and perhaps more than ever assembled before in any city, she said.

Three hundred and fifty persons will be in costume. This, Miss Crosby declared to be, unique in the production of oratorios and would give the production all the advantages of a grand opera in addition the large choruses that will take part.

Two groups of singers of 500 voices each will be located just in front of the stage, on either side. In an upper balcony in the rear of the building a chorus of 1,000 school children will be assembled. Miss Crosby characterized this chorus as being in the nature of an angelical choir, which she declared had great possibilities in this oratorio. Two complete children's choruses are being trained, she said, it being planned to use a different one each night in order that more may have the advantages of the training.

The little symphony orchestra of Kansas City will furnish the orchestral music for the oratorio. All the musicians and singers will be residents of Kansas City and proceeds from the oratorio will be used for civic music developments here. Half the money will be used as a nucleus for a musical club building here, Miss Crosby said.

The convention will adjourn April 6.

Do you know how easy it is to make dresses, to-day?

The new fabrics and patterns are tempting more and more women to sew

Design 4398—This three-piece suit with its simple Eton jacket and slip-over dress is very easy to make. You will find the pattern for it at our Butterick counter and the appropriate materials—serge, printed and plain silk crepes, tricotine—at our piece-goods counter. Even if you've never made a suit before, you will have no trouble with this one since the Deltor, enclosed with your pattern, shows you step by step how to cut, construct and finish each garment.

Design 4359—Miss 16 to 20 will be a simple maid this Spring with her basque frock and her puffed sleeves. Visit our piece-goods counter with her and let her select one of the recommended materials in the color she likes best. We have all the new taffetas, crepe, satin, and silks. At our Butterick Pattern counter you will find the pattern in all the sizes. The Deltor enclosed with the pattern tells you how to make the dress from start to finish—even the flower ornaments and the puffing with which the dress is trimmed.

Design 4367—Ruffles have returned but, thanks to the Deltor, they use no more material than a plain-skirted dress. A 19-year size requires only 3 1/2 yards of 39 inch material—the Deltor showing you with pictures how to lay the pattern on the material. At our piece-goods counter you will find the popular Spring materials—taffeta, silk or satin crepes, printed silks in the new designs. And at our Butterick Pattern counter you will find all the new Spring styles.

Design 4360—Two yards of 44 inch material is enough to make this dress for a 10-year-old child. The pattern (a Butterick one) is very simple and the Deltor, enclosed with it, shows you exactly how to make the dress—even the ruffling and the rosettes. All you have to do is select the material, and at our piece-goods counter you will find an excellent assortment—organdies, dotted swiss, taffeta, net, in all the lovely new colors.

TRACK MEET FOR TWO TEAMS HERE

College and Ada Hi Cinder Path Athletes to Meet

The best material of both the high school and college track teams is expected to be brought out in a handicap track and field meet at the College field Wednesday and Thursday afternoons with Coach Harry Scheinberg in charge.

A competitive match between the two teams will reveal the best material on hand and get a line on the phase of athletic endeavor the contestant is best fitted for.

The high school team, which is working part of the time under Coach Scheinberg's instructions, is considered a strong contender for district honors this year with several of the veterans of last year's team again on the field.

With a noticeable weakness in the College team this year, the Wednesday and Thursday handicap may prove a hot contest with the veteran high school team playing in for counters.

Both teams are being watched with considerable interest by all sport fans of the city for the true mettle of the followers of the cinder path will be shown as an example of the strength of both teams for the future matches for both high school and college classes.

The high school squad is busy preparing for the district and state interscholastic meets and the handicap meet will serve to show up the weakness on field and track events.

The college squad has the quadrangle meet and the Oklahoma Intercollegiate Conference meet at later dates in the season.

Invitation for a dual meet at Durant next week was turned down by Coach Scheinberg owing to the fact that the team could not be rounded into shape in time for the acceptance of the challenge. An invitation for a dual meet between quarter-milers of the two teams for next Friday may be accepted at a later date, Scheinberg stated.

The following events will be held on Wednesday: 100 yard dash; mile run, shot put, discus, broad jump, high jump. On Thursday: pole vault, javelin, 220 yd. low hurdles, 120 yd. high hurdles, quarter mile, half mile, relay.

Tigers Romp in Slugfest And Take Easy Victory From Murray Aggie Nine

East Central Tigers enjoyed the benefits of a slug-fest Friday afternoon at the college diamond and defeated the Murray Aggie baseball nine to the tune of 16-6.

By their decisive victory Friday afternoon, the Tigers did their part in getting revenge on their opening game with the Aggies here Thursday afternoon when they dropped an easy victory to the invaders by the tune of 9-3.

No one slipped in the Tiger machine Friday afternoon, despite the fact that icy winds and sand storms invaded the diamond and made fielding a matter of uncertainty. Tigers mastered the wrath of the elements and escaped with only four errors during the game.

The Aggies early fell victim to a slugfest but it was not until the fifth inning that the fireworks started with the Tigers batting their full team in nine times at the bat. Five runs were snatched during the inning. The following inning proved another slug period and the Tigers sent twelve men to the plate with eight picking runs for their visits. McCoy was the only player on the Tiger team, who did not gather a run during the inning.

Aggies Restive in Seventh.

The Aggies gathered courage in the seventh inning and came back with a four-run rally, with Huggins, Aggie center fielder, poling out a long three-base drive.

While the Tigers tallied more runs than hits, hits for additional bases made up for this deficiency. The Tigers gathered fifteen hits and counted them for sixteen runs. Home runs by Johnson and Lucas and three base hits by Lee, twice and Kirkpatrick, and two-base hits by Kelly and Thompson help count in the heavy score.

Williams, a veteran twirler, held a steady pace on the mound for the Tigers during the first seven innings of the game. He held the invaders hitless until the sixth inning. Coach Millam sent Crawford to replace Williams in the seventh and Bill finished the game in good style.

Lynch, Aggie moundman, began to weaken in the fifth inning and the Tigers batted him freely until he was replaced by Richardson in the seventh inning.

LONDON BOWING TO SPORT REIGN

Britishers Forget All Else to Follow Sport Events of Times.

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON, March 31.—The ordinary Englishman is not bothering his head much over the Ruhr, the budget, war debts or other important but indigestible topics of the time. Along with his wife, he gives a thought now and then to the approaching marriage of the Duke of York or to pictures of Princess Mary's son, but for the most part his interest after business hours is centered in sports which are reaching pre-war popularity, this season.

The crest in the rising tide of spring athletics came last week. A million Londoners on Saturday last flocked from their homes and of flog to see football matches, track and field sports, boat races, horse races and other events. Perhaps larger numbers witnessed a varied program in every county.

At the Chelsea football grounds where the semi-final soccer match for the English championship was played, 50,000 persons entered the stands as soon as the gates were opened. The turnstiles were closed two hours before game time, thus barring thousands who stood outside.

One hundred thousand persons crowded the Aintree course outside Liverpool on Friday last to witness the Grand National Steeplechase. Many of the spectators traveled hundreds of miles for this event, but the weather was so hazy that only a privileged few saw the horses take more than one or two jumps. However, there were no complaints.

The universality of devotion to sports among the English was nowhere more strikingly evinced than at the Oxford-Cambridge boat race which was witnessed by at least 500,000 persons. Very few of these had ever been to college or ever hoped to get there, yet every one was strongly partisan. The street urinals and the grammar school youngsters waxed so argumentative that patients were frequent in their efforts to determine which was the better crew before the oarsmen themselves had decided it.

The victory of Stephen Sanford's sergeant Murphy in the Grand National and the triumph the next day of the Oxford crew stroked by an American, pleased the American residents in Great Britain. However, the British sport writers assured the natives that the horse was trained in England and that Mellen learned his rowing here. Nevertheless, both victories added weight to the sporting supremacy which America has established since the war in tennis, golf and other international contests.

Already many English writers are commenting upon the likelihood that the open golf championship will go to America again this year, and with the announcement that Vincent Richards is coming to Wimbledon the sporting pages ventured the opinion that he is sure to win the tennis championship unless Tilden or Johnston enter.

One Britisher, commenting on American successes in England, said that if America ever sent over a cricket team that should beat the English he would emigrate to New York and become a naturalized Yankee.

SPARKS SLATED FOR MATCH WITH ADAMS

Claude Sparks, affectionately known in the Ada ring as "Iron Jaw" will again mix with the best when he enters the ring in a ten-round match with Frankie Adams at Perry April 5.

Sparks has been training in the Ada Athletic club, a local fighter and reputed for his ability to take more punishment than an army mule.

The Sparks-Adams match is the principal bout in the boxing card at Perry and Sparks is expected to stay the full ten rounds and give the best he has in two mits while in the ring.

Sparks is also taking advantage of the training offered by Billy Conley, who is waiting here for his bout with Johnnie Karr in Lincoln, Nebraska.

Cooper will probably be matched in the early part of April but his opponent has not been named. Several offers are under consideration, it is understood.

ATHLETIC ORGANIZATIONS IN FRANCE ON INCREASE

PARIS—Athletic organizations are booming in France, and new ones have been coming into being at the rate of about ten a day for some time past. The women's share in this growth is so great as to alarm many of the conservative male athletic leaders, who refuse to abandon the idea that women's proper place is in the home. The women, however, are going steadily ahead, strengthening their organizations, setting new records in the various events and otherwise supporting their demand for recognition in the Olympics and other international contests.

Short Course to Be Offered Grain Grading Students

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., March 31.—The agronomy department of the Oklahoma A. & M. college at Stillwater will offer a short course in grain grading to begin April 30 and continue five days. It has been announced by John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture. The course will be open to mill and elevator men and farmers.

Ample accommodations will be available for all who take the course. Whitehurst said. The course is free the only expense being for accommodations while at the college. This is the second year the course has been offered to an adult class. It covers wheat, oats and corn and will be conducted under the direction of Prof. A. Deane, head of the agronomy department at the college. Mr. Whitehurst said.

Three Teams of Major League to Start Year Off With New Managers

NEW YORK, March 31. (By the Associated Press)—Three major league teams, two in the American and one in the National League, will start the 1923 season with new pilots, all faced with the task of rebuilding and reorganizing clubs which finished in second division depths last year.

The new managers, all of whom gained playing fame as infield stars, are: Frank Chance, erstwhile "peerless leader" of the Chicago Cubs, who has taken over the direction of the Boston Red Sox from Hugh Duffy; Owen (Donnie) Bush, veteran shortstop, who replaced Clyde Milan as Washington's pilot; and Art Fletcher, another veteran shortstop, who succeeded Irving Wilhelm in charge of the Philadelphia Nationals.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, regarded by John McGraw as the most dangerous rival of the world's champion New York Giants, will start their first season under the leadership of Bill McKechnie, who replaced George Gibson in mid-season last year and converted the club into a strong pennant contender.

The Boston Braves will have a new directing influence in Christy Mathewson, club president and part owner as a result of a change in ownership bringing the former pitching star of the Giants back to the game. Mathewson will keep Fred Mitchell as field pilot, but "Big Six" undoubtedly will use his experienced judgment in aiding his manager to shape the team's lineup and strategy.

There is a shade of romance about the reorganization of the two Boston clubs, with Mathewson and Chance, rivals in their playing days with the Giants and Cubs, as the central figures. Fans will watch the work of both with keen interest.

Chance has been out of major league baseball since he piloted the New York Yankees in 1913 and 1914 so that his return is something of a "comeback" attempt, prior to his disappointing experience with the Yankees, when disagreements with both players and owners resulted in his retirement before the close of the 1914 season.

son. Chance won four National League pennants and two world's championships with the Cubs.

He has been given a free rein by Harry Frazee, Boston owner, in his new position and already has started rebuilding the Red Sox with young talent.

Bush and Fletcher, both promoted from the ranks, will have their first managerial flings. Bush starred for years in the infield of the Detroit Tigers, before going to the Senators in 1921, while Fletcher was a member of the Giants for a dozen years until he was traded to the Phillies in 1920.

Connie Mack elongated pilot of the Philadelphia Athletics, and John McGraw, of the Giants, among the managers who will carry on for 1923, have shown the least regard for the rigors of time. Rivals over a span of more than twenty years, their tasks this season are diametrically opposite. McGraw stands pat on a team which has swept to two world's championships in straight succession while Mack, after seven straight seasons in last place, and an eighth year only one notch higher, has assembled a team of youngsters with which he expects to make the best showing since he wrecked his famous champions of 1910 to 1914.

Mack, starting his twenty-third campaign as manager of the Athletics holds the record for length of service, while McGraw will christen his twenty-second season in command of the Giants. Each has won three world's championships, but McGraw holds the lead in pennants, with eight National League flares to his credit against six American League titles for the "tall tutor."

Wilbert Robinson, rotund pilot of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is next to McGraw and Mack in point of service. He will start his tenth season at the helm, confronted with the relics of a 1920 championship team and a lot of new talent as a basis for general reorganization.

Miller Huggins will begin his sixth season with the Yankees, leading a two-time pennant winner into action.

Four other pilots in both leagues will start their fifth season, while

TRACK MEN SHOW UP AT COLLEGE

Scheinberg Lines Up Track Athletes for Coming Meets in State

Hindered at first by rains and then wintry weather, the College track squad has fought persistently under handicaps during the early part of their training season.

Few days have passed without the familiar scene of track athletes, thinly clad sprinting around the track at the East Central College.

This persistence with the able assistance of Coach Harry Scheinberg, a three-year track star at Purdue, is moulding itself into the makings of a track team, despite the obstacles.

Coach Scheinberg places the weight of his hopes for state honors on his dash and hurdle men, admitting the weakness of the team in weights, high jump, broad jump and pole vault.

Coach Scheinberg points out as the outstanding men in the dash events, Campbell and Willingham, both veterans on the squad. Campbell is a crack man on the 100 yard dash and mixes a bit in hurdle. Hogue, Lance and Keltner, new men on the squad are turning out to be valuable material. Keltner is showing up well in the 220 yard dash.

Bowman and Holden are showing strength at the mile and half mile and will probably be the Tiger hopes in those events.

Martin, captain of the team, will be another strong issue and is expected to make his mark in the hurdle events at the state meet.

Deen, an Ada boy, is showing up good in low hurdles and may be counted on as a member of the squad. Brandon will be a valuable man in the quarter mile run. Jobe is also a comer in the quarter-mile event.

A. Kerr is expected to be the heavy liner with the weights.

still another quartet will begin its third campaign at the steering wheel.

A handsome pipe organ is being installed in the chapel of the new St. Mark's Hall in New Orleans.

The French Mission school in Houma, La., built from the funds raised by the women of Southern Methodism during the Week of Prayer, 1922 is rapidly nearing completion. Deaconess Ella Hooper writes that she expects to use the building during the summer activities.

Good News!
The Mission Boards of the Orient have issued a statement requesting that all missionaries coming out to the mission fields be booked on American steamers only, since all other transports are carrying heavy embargoes of liquors.

Mrs. Downs also reports that splendid progress is being made in the collection of funds for the Methodist dormitories connected with the state universities, both in Missouri and Texas.

The missionary society will meet at the church Monday at 2:30 in regular business session. Let each side in the contest try to beat the other in attendance.

SUPT. PUBLICITY.

Oak Ave. Baptist Church.
We hope to have a full attendance at Oak Avenue church today. A special missionary program will be rendered at the Sunday school hour. The church will observe the "Memorial Supper" at the eleven o'clock hour. We urge all members to be present and take part in this important service.

The evening service will close our meeting which has been going on since last Sunday. In some respects we have had a great meeting. The members of our church who love the Lord and His church received great blessing. Two additions to the church by baptism, one from the Roman Catholic, the other from the Lutheran. We are praying that others may come before the meeting shall close. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to all services at our church. We make you feel at home.

Sunday School Day at the Methodist Church

Sunday school day will be observed at the Methodist Church this morning by a special program rendered by children from the elementary departments. The program will begin at the regular hour, 9:45 a. m., and occupy the whole of the class hour. While the weather and other causes have hampered the training of the children yet a very creditable program has been prepared. The committee in charge of the exercises consists of Mrs. R. E. Haynes, Mrs. H. F. Felix, Mrs. E. J. McKenney and Mrs. Val Land.

It is desired that every member of the Sunday School be present today and that each bring a new member or a visitor if at all possible. Our attendance last Sunday was over 400, but for the few Sunday's preceding was much less. Make today a booster's day for the Sunday school.

Program
Processional: The Children's Hosanna.

Oil News

Activity in the Bebee oil fields will be increased this week when the new well of the Carter-Lowrey interests will be drilled deeper and the LaSalle well will be started.

Harry Hager, who will be in charge of the drilling of both wells, said he expected to get started on the deepening process of the Carter-Lowrey well in section 32-5-5 some time this week. He will start by rigging up on the La Salle well Monday. This latter is in section 31-5-5, about one mile northwest of the discovery well.

Ed Gillette announces that arrangements have been almost completed for a deep test in section 19-5-7, northwest of Francis. This location is only eighteen miles from the Wewoka producers and the territory has never been tested.

The Great Lakes Oil Company is near the Allen sand in their well in section 29-5-8. This is a well off-setting the one recently drilled into a water sand at a greater depth.

The Homoka Oil Company has started drilling on a deep test in section 33-5-8, also in the Allen field.

It is reported that three supply houses would locate in Ada and handle machinery out of here if it were possible to cross the Canadian river to get to the Seminole and Hughes county fields. The oil men are anxious to see a bridge spanning this river so they can get from Ada to the fields across the river and back again.

WILLARD PUPILS GIVE EXCELLENT PROGRAM

(Allen Democrat)

The Willard school of Ada gave a very interesting program to the citizens of Allen last Tuesday night. The entertainment was held at the high school building and everyone who attended expressed themselves as highly pleased at the remarkable amount of talent that was displayed. It was indeed wonderful to see the "little folks" render their selections, and with the ease and grace of a professional. To select the best individual part would be impossible as everyone of them was an individual star. The little girl who played the violin and the boy playing the cornet would have made anyone proud who could have done so well.

It was one of the best evenings entertainments that has ever been given in Allen and our people wish to extend the young players of the Willard school a hearty and appreciative invitation to come again just any time they choose. With the excellent training they are receiving they should honor any high school which shall number them among its student body.

Harry W. Miller

Troop No. 1 went to the Lodge Friday night. Geo. Kitchell remarked that he bet that they didn't have any trouble keeping cool.

Twenty boys of troops 4 and 5 had a high old time at the Lodge last week. However, there are a few boy scouts we are sorry to say who go out there to see how many others they can keep awake at night and who show too little appreciation of their scoutmaster who has to work the next day. Probably it would be a good thing to let those scouts stay at home and it may be necessary to do so.

Troop No. 9 scouts were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller at their home on South Townsend Friday night. Mr. Miller gave the scouts a talk on the questions, which will be asked on the Life of Christ at the examination to be held soon.

Rev. A. H. Ogle paid Troop No. 3 a visit Thursday night and gave the scouts of that troop a fine address on the Life of Christ. He covered all the questions which will be asked in the examination.

Rev. J. H. Ball of the First Methodist church took all the scouts present at the meeting of Troops 4 and 5 through the life of Christ. Rev. Ball made it very interesting to the scouts.

Troop No. 2 scouts had as their guest last night, Rev. C. C. Morris who gave them a fine talk on the questions which will be asked at the examination on the Life of Christ.

Mr. Day, who is the advance man of the Honest Bill and Lucky Bill shows, went with the scout executive to Stonewall and Union Valley where he made two very fine addresses on wild animals. The school superintendents in each one of the schools dismissed recitations so that the pupils could hear him on this subject.

The Life of Christ examination contest will take place Thursday, April 12. The examination will take place at each one of the schools. Scouts who wish to take the examination will be excused from their classes and a teacher of the school will be put in charge. This arrangement has been made with Supt. Hickman. Below is a list of the questions which will be asked and if you will read the book of Luke through you will find the answer to nearly all the questions. The prize offered is a solid gold medal given by the McThwait Oil and Gas Co. The scout in each Sunday school who passes the best written examination will be given one of these prizes. Any minister in town or the scout executive will be glad to help you. Below are the questions.

1. Who was John. The Baptist, what did he do and what did he say about Jesus?
2. Tell all that you can about the birth of Jesus, the visit of the shepherds and of the wise men.
3. Where did Jesus spend his boyhood? What did he do to work

ry his parents when he was a boy? What kind of an education do you think that he was given?

4. When was Jesus baptized, Describe it.

5. Describe the temptations which Jesus had. Tell every thing that you can about them.

6. Name ten miracles which Jesus performed.

7. Name five parables.

8. Tell the parable of the Prodigal Son.

9. Write from memory the 23rd Psalm and the first twelve verses of the 5th chapter of Matthew.

10. Starting with Christ's birth, give as many important events in the life of Christ as you can.

11. How many disciples did Christ have?

12. Describe Christ's death.

13. Tell all that you can about his resurrection and ascension.

Farmers' Column

—By—
Byron Norrell

County Agent Hill, Ralph Wamer and Roy Givens recently attended a gathering at Steedman where the matter of planting broom corn was discussed. Some was raised last year and Mr. Hill states that still more will be planted around there this year. Also, considerable will be planted south and east of Jesse. Very little of this product has been raised in Pontotoc county heretofore, but it has been demonstrated that it can be and if success attends the experiments this year it may be that this will become a crop of importance within the next few years.

H. M. Fannell, who lives two or three miles west of town, has secured a boll of Egyptian wool cotton and will plant the seed in his garden this spring with a view of seeing what it will do here and if it proves any more profitable than the usual run of cotton. This boll came from a stalk grown last year near Honey Grove, Texas.

I went out to Hardy Dial's cotton field recently to see what he is doing with about 25 acres he expects to plant this year. He stated that after the ground was broken in the early winter it had been disked and harrowed three or four times. Just now he is having commercial fertilizer put into the ground with an old type cotton planter which he says is just the thing for the purpose. He is putting in about 200 pounds to the acre. His next move will be to throw up beds with the fertilized strip in the middle of the beds. Then the beds will be disked three or four times at intervals to kill out grass and weeds as it comes out of the ground. In the latter days of April or first of May the beds will be dragged down with a log and planted as fast as dragged. This will virtually assure a perfect stand in very short order, and it will grow off rapidly. His next move is to run a harrow over the cotton and then give it a good plowing. After that he will cultivate it with the drag using the brush to knock off all weeds. Mr. Dial has always contended that proper preparation of the seed bed is the main part of the battle for a cotton crop and has carried it out according to his past experience.

Oklahoma Dairy Situation.

By John A. Whitehurst
Oklahoma has the best dairy laws in the United States. The fairest to the buyer and the most profitable to the producer of dairy products. These laws were enacted in 1919, and we have endeavored to assist our dairy producers to understand and observe them. But our progress has not gone forward as she should in the commercial world of dairy interests and we have only ourselves to blame for this.

Our dairy laws say "first grade cream shall bring 3 cents per pound butterfat more than second grade," and there is a perfectly clear conception between the two classes. The State Board of Agriculture has nothing to do with the fixing of the price of cream, but the State Board of Agriculture does have the power to protect the producer in the open market by seeing that he does receive the right price for the right grade of cream. But we have not yet brought our products up to the standard of first grades.

It is an established fact that the eastern markets will not accept Oklahoma butter upon the same scale as the butter of other states, but pays on an average 5 cents per pound less. Our other dairy products suffer in an approximate measure.

Therefore in view of this really grave situation to the dairy interests of our state we are going to begin a gradual but unrelenting observation of our dairy laws until we do become a sought for rather than a discriminated against state of dairy products.

Beginning April the 16th we are going to place in the field 125 men who will be grouped into teams. These teams will hold meeting at every point of advantage in the state to which the buyers and producers of dairy products of that section are respectfully requested to attend. Instructions upon the care of cream and other dairy products and how to properly grade will be given and examinations held at the same meeting. These instructions and examinations will enable the buyer to buy intelligently and the producer to sell intelligently.

We must learn how to properly care for and grade our creams and butters. Buyers are going to adhere more closely to the law in the future than ever in the past and unless our producers meet them on a legal basis they are going to be the losers.

Announcement of the meeting to be held in Ada will be made in due time for all interested to arrange to be in attendance. No cost for these lessons now, but they may cost some one very dearly later.

SCHOOL NOTES

WILLARD SCHOOL NOTES

We are glad to see the most of our pupils back in school, who have been out on the account of sickness. Mrs. Hawkinson was absent from school Tuesday on account of the flu. Mrs. Val Land took her place during her absence.

Miss Annie Lee Bolton and Mrs. B. G. Howard are attending a B. Y. P. U. convention at Shreveport, Louisiana.

The Willard school boys played the Normal Training school boys in a fast game of ball Thursday. Willard lost to the Normal 23 to 16.

Willard played Allen Friday and lost to them by a large score. A musical concert was given at the Allen High school building last Tuesday evening by the Willard school. The program consisted of 3 choruses, five readings, one violin solo, one cornet solo and four numbers by the orchestra. The crowd that went was Mrs. C. G. Anderson, Mrs. A. D. Coon, Mrs. J. U. Criswell, Mrs. Bill Newton, Mrs. A. D. Bolton, Mrs. Val Land, Misses Jettine Bolton, Miss Helen Goss, Bernice Bronaugh, Mr. C. H. Massey, Mr. S. M. Shaw, Mrs. E. J. Mallory, Mr. Dick Simpson, Mr. John William Moore, Mr. Gilbert Montgomery, Mrs. S. L. Van Curen.

Professor Bolton and 70 pupils of the school. We were well treated and a cordial invitation was extended to us to come back. We wish to thank the kind people who took cars.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE BUYS "EAST IS WEST" FOR SCREEN

Just as "Smilin' Through" was Norma Talmadge's first really big production, so does the forthcoming presentation of "East is West" mark sister Constance's debut in the field of drama and famous play adaptations. Ever since "East is West" completed its two year run on Broadway and proceeded to create further records as a road show, it has been held as a prize for some screen star who wished to do something of a sensational nature and would pay the price. That it has fallen to Constance Talmadge is an indication of her new intention to forget the delightful frivolities of the past and to make future productions equally delightful in drama, not to the absolute exclusion of comedy however.

Fay Bainter, it will be remembered created the role of Ming Toy in the original stage production. Constance Talmadge's performance is not a duplicate but an amplification of that. Due to the narrow confines of the stage "East is West" had to subdue many of its entertaining possibilities. Enlargement to the screen makes possible many of the delightful episodes which were merely covered by words and not action in the stage play; and as Ming Toy figured largely in those moments the screen's scope of the character is so much greater.

Sidney A. Franklin, who directed "Smilin' Through" and also this production, has invested it with a wealth of gorgeous Chinese backgrounds and general technical excellence in keeping with what Miss Talmadge provides. "East is West" will be seen as a First National attraction at the McSwain Theatre Monday.

MARRIED TEN YEARS AND HAVENT HAD
ONE ARGUMENT
WITH MY WIFE.

WHAT?
TEN YEARS AND NOT ONE ARGUMENT?

HERE SHE

C'MON,
YOU SHRIMP.

YES,
DEARIE.

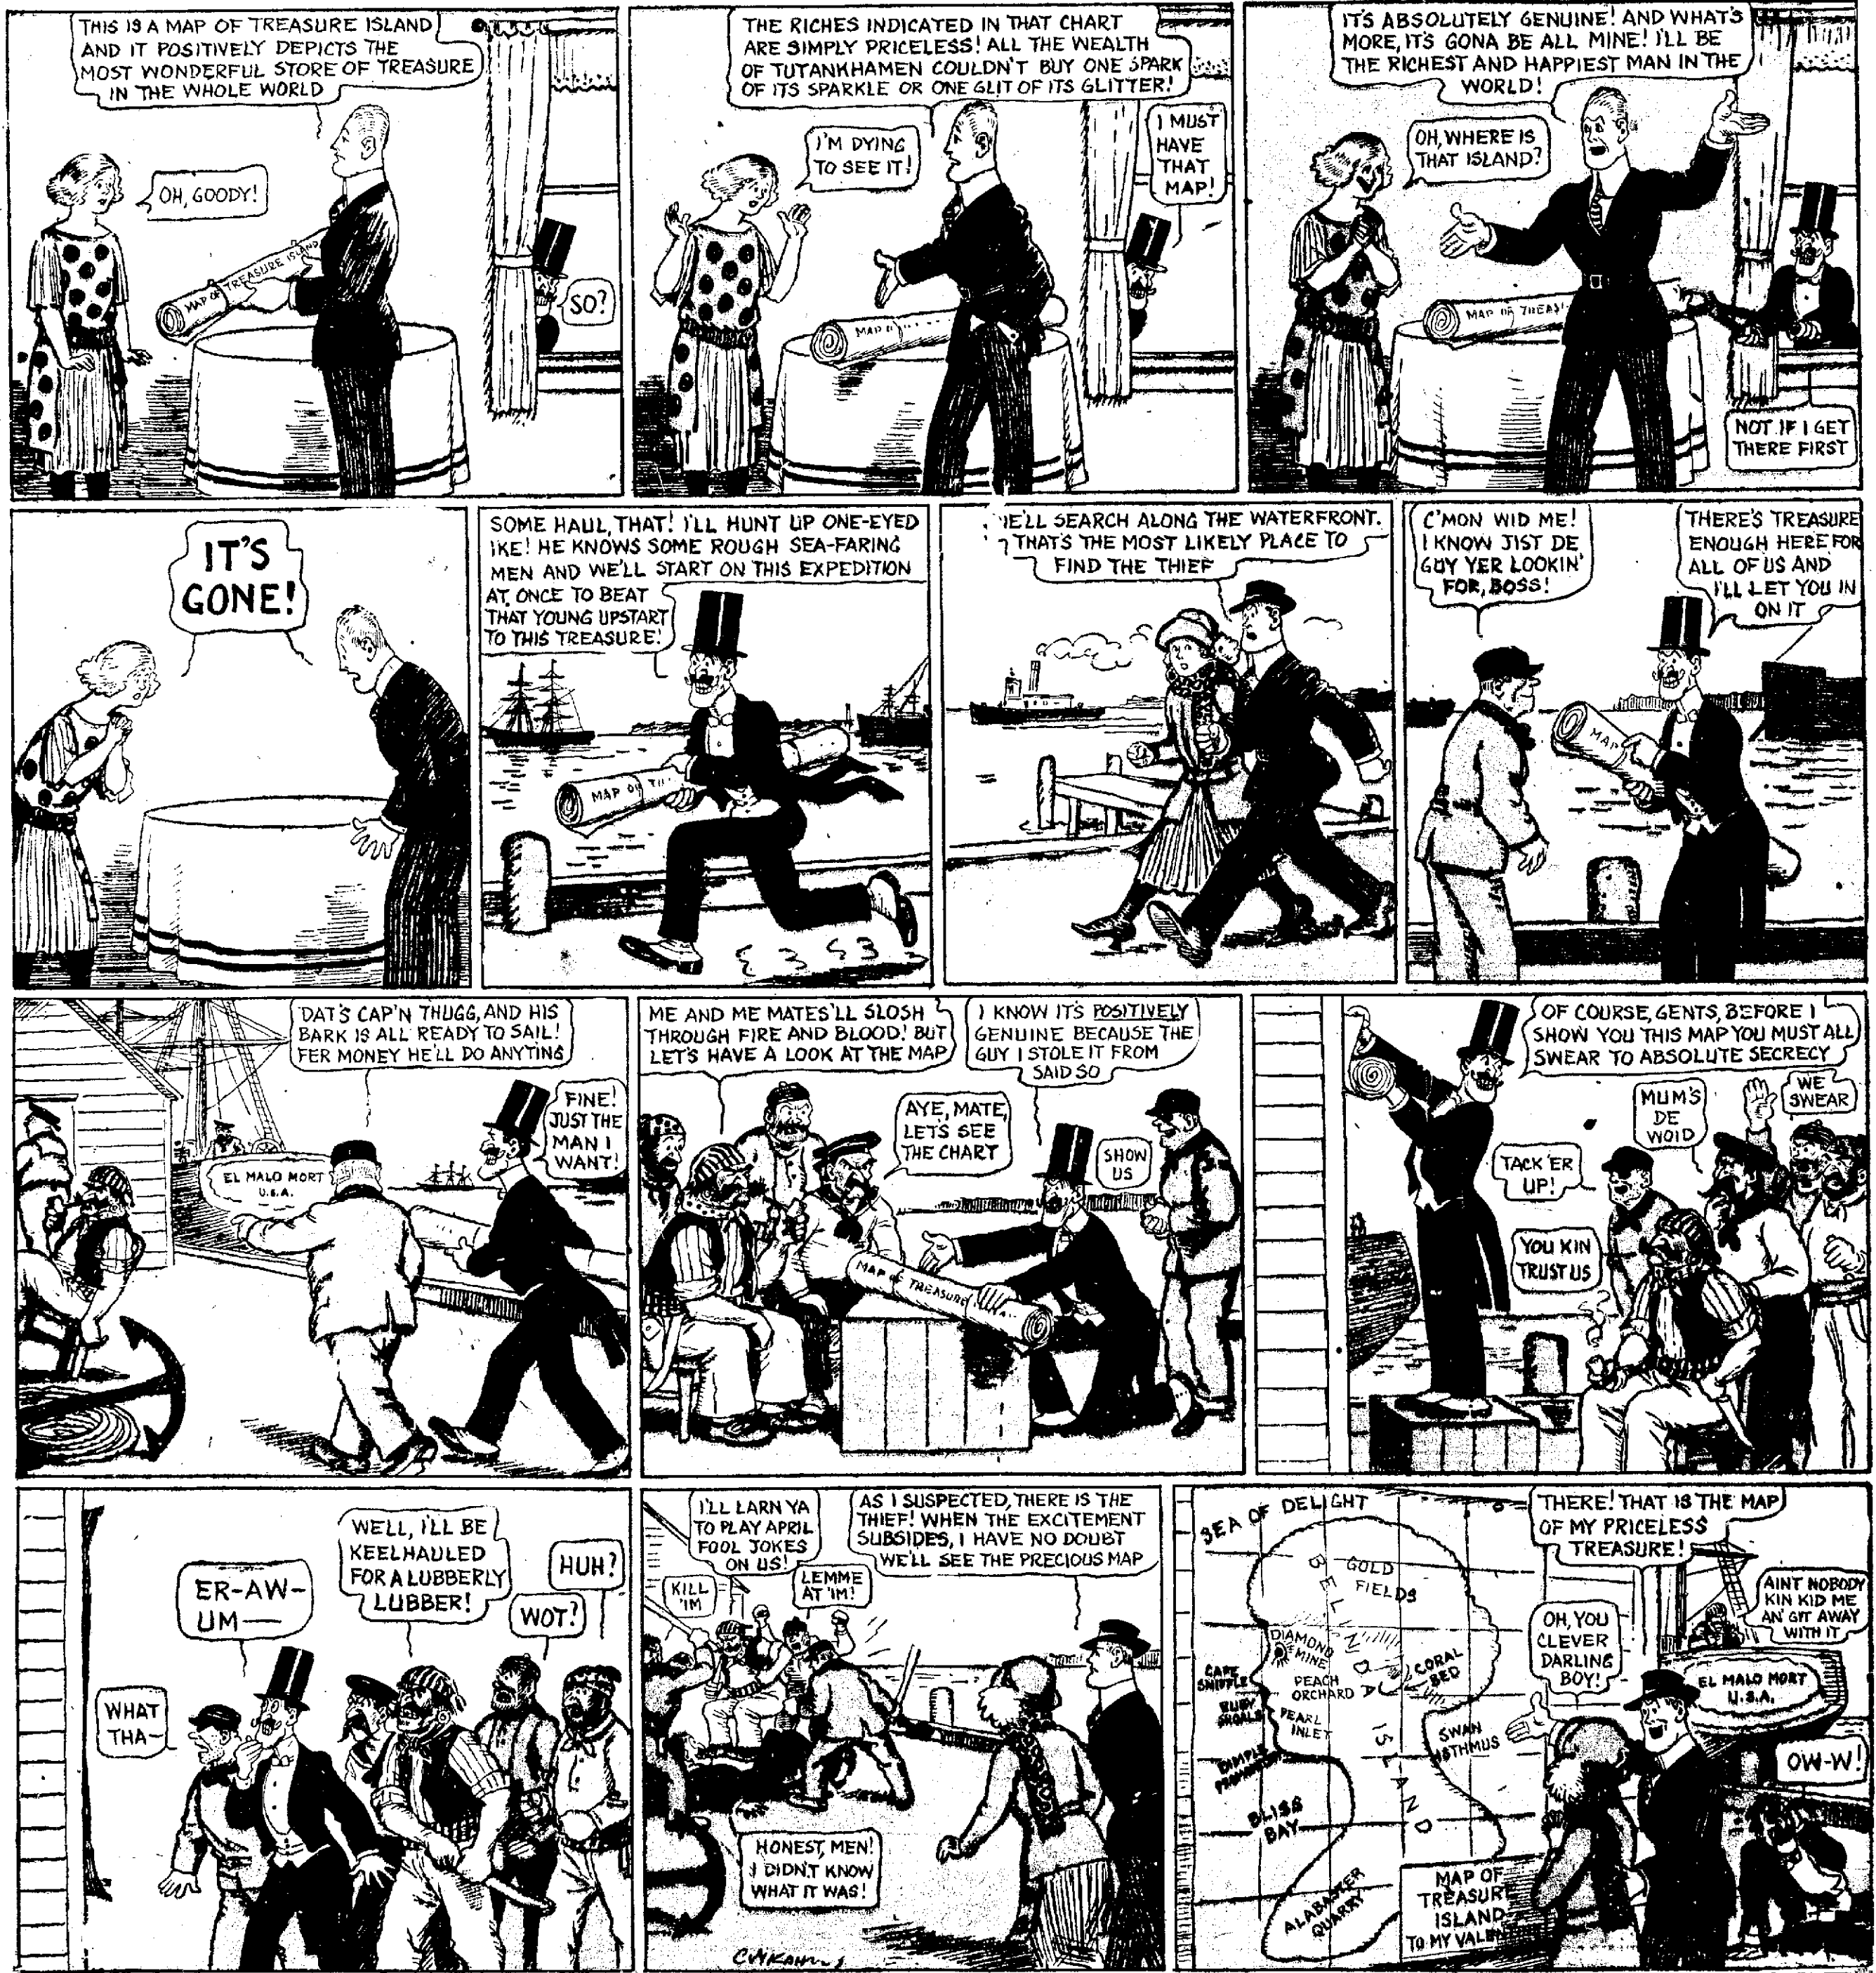

SHAKE YER
PINS.
YES,
DEARIE.

STUNG!
A FILM OF A ROBBER-
-ONE REEL-

HOWDY DO, STRANGER! DO YOU OBJECT TO BEING ROBBED?

NOT AT ALL! I'M DELIGHTED.

AS A RULE I KNOCK MY VICTIMS SENSELESS FIRST.

THAT'S PERFECTLY ALL RIGHT WITH ME.

NOW I'LL ASK YOU TO LOOK PLEASANT, PLEASE.

SURE!

NOW YOU COME HOME

CAN YOU BEAT IT?
